		4. Project/Activity Title Agricultural Production and Research (Poultry Activity)

I. Description of Project and Objectives

The Agricultural Production and Research (Poultry Activity) Project will make a major contribution towards the resolution of Tunisia's critical problem of widespread protein deficiency. The main thrust of the project will be directed towards increasing poultry production, thereby (1) eliminating the need for importation of poultry products in large quantities, and (2) inducing an increase in average daily consumption patterns. Moreover, an increase in poultry production is needed to supply the meat and egg demands of hotels which cater to the vigorous tourist trade.

In order to achieve these goals it will be necessary to convert the operations of the GOT poultry farms, i.e., to gear them for greater poultry production, whose aim will be to stimulate private commercial facilities. USAID inputs will be threefold. First, USAID will contribute some essential commodities. Second, USAID will provide the services of livestock advisors (poultry). And third, USAID will support participant training programs both in-country and in the U.S. The project is expected to run through fiscal year 1974. USAID contributions are designed to provide assistance in the areas of scientific and technical management. This includes establishing vaccine storage banks, training vaccinators to fight poultry disease and providing training in feeding practices.

II. Breakdown of U.S. Contribution

A. One full time direct-hire U.S. technician

B. One expert in the field of chick sexing for a period of 6 months

C. Participant training

D. Commodities

III. Description of Activities

A. U.S. Direct-Hire Technician

One U.S-employed direct-hire Poultry Advisor is now on board. He will continue working with GOT staff to carry out the project. His principal tasks will be to survey Tunisia's poultry industry, to review project operations and recommend appropriate U.S. assistance. He will collaborate with ENSAT in developing a poultry training curriculum and training support re-poultry production.

B. Other Contribution

- The GOT will assign 2 "ingenieurs" and 2 "Adjoints Techniques" as counterparts to work in collaboration with the U.S. advisor. In addition, 13 "Adjoints Techniques," one for each Gouvernorat, will be assigned to work specifically on Poultry Extension.

- Poultry equipment (waterers, feeders, nests, feed) and services, at an estimated cost of $11,000 in FY 70, will be made available as a contribution to the successful operation of the project.
