Development Objective: Democracy, human rights and development

I. PROJECT GOAL AND OBJECTIVES

The number of persons with disabilities in Belarus exceeds 500,000. There are 119,000 children with special needs, including about 30,000 children with disabilities among them. Discrimination and marginalization of adults and young people with disabilities is a typical social phenomenon for Belarus - while adults are often excluded from social and economic life, and decision-making practices, children with disabilities suffer from insufficient access to education and appropriate quality of services as well as social exclusion and lack of participation opportunities.

From October, 2008 – September, 2012, ChildFund Belarus implemented the four-year project “Expanding Participation of People with Disabilities” funded by USAID in Belarus under the Community Services to Vulnerable Groups cooperative agreement. The project component aimed to include Belarusian people with disabilities into mainstream society and to strengthen capacity of organizations of persons with disabilities.

In October, 2012, ChildFund-Belarus entered the next three-year project phase. The People with Disabilities Component aims to increase the integration of people with disabilities (PWD) through development of innovative services and strengthening the capacity of grassroots PWD organizations.

The project has three main objectives:

1. Build the organizational, networking and advocacy capacity of grassroots organizations supporting PWD and their families;
2. Support advocacy efforts by PWD grassroots organizations to promote inclusion;
3. Support I of introduction and development of inclusive education of children and young people with disabilities.

II. PROJECT HIGHLIGHTS

This quarter, the project was implemented according to its plan and budget. The semi-annual PMEP review was conducted this quarter, and it showed sufficient progress in achieving annual project targets.

One of the main achievements of this quarter is the success of targeted advocacy efforts for inclusive education conducted by ChildFund and its partner DPOs. The development of the Master Plan on Development of Inclusive Education in Belarus, round table discussions, meetings with decision makers, and sensitization workshops conducted within the course of project implementation influenced policy formulation in the area of inclusive education. These efforts resulted in the Ministry of Education’s development and adoption of a new policy document, ‘On Performance of Special Education Institutions under Modern Conditions’. The document defines the state policy with respect to the national special education system for 2013-2016. Three of the 35 articles of the document address the burning issues of inclusive education. They are:

- Development and adoption of the ‘Plan of Development of Inclusive Education in Belarus’ (2013-2014)
- Incorporation of indicators of inclusiveness into the set of evaluation criteria for primary and secondary schools
- Testing of inclusive approaches in selected pilot schools and preschools

These articles create a platform for further development of inclusive education and align PWD project activities with national priorities. ChildFund will take advantage of this milestone decision by organizing meetings with the Ministry of Education to suggest opportunities for cooperation and coordination in executing the articles mentioned above.

This quarter, ChildFund completed formation of the National Trainers’ Team on Inclusive Education. In addition to the TOT workshop conducted in the previous quarter, this quarter, a series of working meetings of the Trainers’ Team was conducted. These meetings resulted in the development of a training program on inclusive education that addresses the main interests and roles of the different groups of stakeholders (teachers, parents, educational authorities). The training program was piloted with the group of masters of schools from all Belarus and received their positive feedback. Three project proposals for the introduction of inclusive education were prepared and submitted by the participants of this training program: 50% of all project proposals submitted to ChildFund’s call for proposals this quarter.

Parents are the main driving force in of the promotion of inclusive education. The next step in mobilization of parents' communities in remote areas was the launch of self-help groups for parents of children with disabilities in five communities. These self-help groups were established by alumni of TOT conducted in the previous quarter. Self-help groups will help parents of young children with disabilities overcome isolation and self-isolation, co-dependence, and multiple stresses. Parents and participants of self-help groups applied to ChildFund's Leadership Course that will be conducted next quarter.

The rights of people with disabilities to inclusive education, equality, and non-discrimination were promoted by participants of training courses through 9 advocacy efforts (press-conference, appeal writing, and publications).

According to the semi-annual PMEP, the number of children with and without disabilities who participated in inclusive school and out-of-school activities conducted within the Project Component has already exceeded the annual target by 50% (365 children against 244 planned annually). Considering the fact that this year, the project does not allocate any significant financial resources for sub-grants and new services, this fact should be interpreted as a great success. The success can be attributed to the follow-up activities conducted by graduates of ChildFund's course, 'Leadership without Limitation for Children and Youth'. The young people with disabilities who participated in the course are empowered and confident to self-advocate and educate their peers about inclusion and rights of people with disabilities. The sustainability and relatively straightforward replication of services established with the past sub-grants also contributed to this success: half the PWD services were delivered by DPO alumni of ChildFund's sub-grant program that incorporated services created with sub-grants into their regular activities.

The figures below illustrate the main outputs of the project implementation during the period between January 1 and March 31, 2013:

- Two (2) training events, and seven (7) working meetings were conducted by ChildFund Belarus;
- 133 (1 man and 132 women) PWD-related specialists from 115 organizations were trained;
- Two (2) inclusive events for children with and without disabilities and their family members were supported by ChildFund Belarus;
- One call for proposals was announced and 6 applications received. Three (3) projects for a total amount of $9171 were selected.
- Three (3) training events for practitioners were supported by ChildFund Belarus;
- 292 (142 boys and 150 girls) children with and without disabilities participated in inclusive activities conducted within the Project Component.
- 9 advocacy efforts aimed at introduction of inclusive education were taken;

III. CHALLENGES/ CONSTRAINTS/OPPORTUNITIES

- The abnormal weather conditions (cold and snowy spring with the occasional snowstorm) affected the schedule of self-help group meetings for parents of children with disabilities as these families' mobility is sensitive to the weather conditions.

- For two of the three months, the workload for the PWD project team increased due to re-distribution of roles and responsibilities.

IV. LESSONS LEARNED

- While the concept of self-help groups for parents of children with disability is needed and appreciated by both leaders and participants, it appears that introduction of this practice might not happen evenly. Time will be necessary for the practice to evolve into a sustainable, long-term service that satisfies the specific needs of the target-group.

SELF-HELP GROUPS (FOLLOW -UPS TO THE TRAINING ON METHODOLOGY)

In November, 2012, ChildFund-Belarus facilitated a training session for specialists on the methodology of organizing regular self-help groups for parents of children with disabilities. This quarter, 5 graduates of the course launched groups in their respective areas that engage 41 participants (Krichev, Kobrin, Mogilev, Bobruisk, Vitebsk) in groups of 4-6 parents. To make the gatherings more available and attractive to the target audience, the Kobrin leader invited volunteers to take care of participants' children during the group's gathering.

The other leader (Tatyana Pukalo, Bobruisk) exploits the potential of a mixed group: the group transformed into a club that unites parents of children with and without disabilities and invites experts to discuss the topics of interest. The leaders informed participants of the opportunity to engage in a set of trainings by ChildFund, "Leadership for Parents of Children with Disabilities," which is to be held in the next stages of the project.

DEMAND FOR THE EXPERTISE OF NATIONAL TEAM OF TRAINERS ON INCLUSIVE EDUCATION

In the previous quarter ChildFund created a national team of trainers on inclusive education that got TOT workshop. This quarter, the team of twelve (12) experts participated in seven (7) working meetings to produce a draft copy of a manual on inclusion. While the draft is being revised and edited, the group is actively promoting the availability of their unique training service to all interested parties (authorities, educators, parents of children with disabilities). Out of several demands for training from different audiences, two (2) were satisfied this quarter:

- Elena Serkulskaaya, a national trainer trained by ChildFund, was invited by Minsk City Habilitation Center to lead its regular workshop for educators. Elena (who uses a wheelchair herself) conducted a session for 25 physical training teachers representing 10 schools, 10 special education institutions, 1 orphanage and 4 preschools on study methods that should be applied in an inclusive classroom during physical training lessons.
- Vera Khitryuk, a national trainer by ChildFund, was invited to conduct a session on inclusion as part of an international seminar, "Special People in Education and Society in Belarus". The 6-day international seminar was organized and funded by Baranovichi State University in partnership with DAAD, Bosch Foundation, and the Embassy of Germany to Belarus. The seminar provided education opportunities to 50 special needs education students from Belarus and Germany. The participating students from Germany were selected out of many applications received from several German universities that teach special needs education during the call by Baranovichi University.

ChildFund Belarus' team provided technical assistance, conducted monitoring visits, and interviewed the partners and event participants in order to monitor and assess the result of local interventions.

NETWROKING AND COOPERATION BETWEEN DPOS

The forum "Partnership without Limitations" conducted by ChildFund in September, 2012 encouraged further development of networking and cooperation between 48 DPOs. During the reported period, these organizations initiated new partnerships that strengthened already existed ties between them and also attracted new partner organizations in networking activities:

- One of the new partners, Baranovichi State University, collaborated with DPO 'Special world' in an international seminar, "Special People in Education and Society in Belarus." The same partner collaborated with DPO 'Otkrovenie' in composing a project proposal that is now ready to be submitted.
- Forum participant Zhitkovichi BelAPDI branch expanded its partnership network and cooperated with NGO 'Center for Social Innovations' and Zhitkovichi Community Center for Social Services to organize a roundtable meeting on enhancement of employment opportunities for people with disabilities.
- One of the forum participants, St Johann Brotherhood, offered DPOs IT-training for people with disabilities. In this quarter, these sessions were organized for 5 representatives of DPO "Special World" (Minsk) and for 19 participants of a self-help club organized by Tatyana Pukalo, alumni of the training on methodology of self-help groups, in Bobruisk. Brotherhood claims that the choice of people with disability as the target group is the direct outcome of their participation in forum "Partnership without Limitations."

OBJECTIVE 2: SUPPORT ADVOCACY EFFORTS BY PWD GRASSROOTS ORGANIZATIONS TO PROMOTE INCLUSION

In order to support advocacy efforts by PWD grassroots organization alumni of ChildFund capacity building events to promote inclusion, the project staff provided its technical support in the form of targeted consultations, sub-grants, organizational and financial support..

- One call for proposals announced, 6 applications received
- Three (3) projects for the total amount of $9171 were selected

According to the semi-annual PMP, by March 30, 2013:

- 20 advocacy efforts (against 21 planned annually) including 9 advocacy efforts organized this quarter by the alumni of the training courses conducted by ChildFund Belarus

- 4 official decisions (against 7 planned annually) related to better inclusion of enforcement of the right to education of children and young people with disabilities were implemented, including 3 decisions issued this quarter

ADVOCACY EFFORTS FOR INCLUSIVE EDUCATION

ChildFund Belarus offered financial and technical support for the graduates of its training programs to organize local follow-up activities (round tables, sensitization workshops) aimed at raising awareness of inclusive education among the different stakeholders (parents, education specialists).

- Tatyana Odynets conducted trainings introducing the concept of inclusion to 51 specialists in Krichev district;
- Inna Talyak conducted a sensitization workshop, “Accept and Help Succeed: the Basics of Inclusive Education” for 18 specialists of Smorgon.
- Nataliya Byakova, and Nataliya Susko (17-year-old girls with disabilities), are graduates of the training course “Leadership without Limitations.” The girls took the lead in conducting a training session, “Inclusion or Illusion” for peers without disabilities in Minsk. Nataliya sensitized the participants (28 people) to the problems of children and adults with disabilities in Belarus. They promoted the idea of true inclusion. The UN Convention on the Rights of People with Disabilities was introduced to the participants. The event helped children with and without disabilities to understand each other’s problems, become closer, and see ways to make friends with peers with disabilities.

The event was highlighted on the web-site of partner DPO

PROMOTION OF INCLUSIVE SOCIETY

The development of the Master Plan on Development of Inclusive Education in Belarus, round table discussions, meetings with decision makers, and sensitization workshops conducted within the course of project implementation influenced policy formulation in the area of inclusive education. These efforts resulted in the Ministry of Education’s development and adoption of a new policy document, ‘On Performance of Special Education Institutions under Modern Conditions’. The document defines the state policy with respect to the national special education system for 2013-2016. Three of the 35 articles of the document address the burning issues of inclusive education. They are:

- Development and adoption of the ‘Plan of Development of Inclusive Education in Belarus’ (2013-2014)
- Incorporation of indicators of inclusiveness into the set of evaluation criteria for primary and secondary schools
- Testing of inclusive approaches in selected pilot schools and preschools

These articles create a platform for further development of inclusive education and align PWD project activities with national priorities. ChildFund will take advantage of this milestone decision by organizing meetings with the Ministry of Education to suggest opportunities for cooperation and coordination in executing the articles mentioned above.

- DPO “Children. Autism. Parents” undertook two advocacy efforts in March 2013. They organized a meeting with the State Education Committee to discuss the prospect of creating inclusive schools open for children with autism. Then, the DPO initiated a round table meeting with Minsk Executive Committee to discuss the system of providing support to children with autism. Sadly, the meetings did not bring immediate results: none of the ideas suggested were transformed into tangible future plans. DPO discussed the outcomes and their concerns with ChildFund specialists. They were advised to diversify their target audience (general public, NGOs, general educators), to use a rights-based as opposed to needs-based approach to advocacy, and to team with other DPOs in order to jointly advocate for the rights and inclusion of children with disabilities rather than focusing on the needs of children with autism.
- ChildFund supported the efforts of a student, Alexandra Titova, who prepared a research paper ‘Common People’ that was awarded the Minsk City Conference on Sociology Prize in March, 2013. Alexandra has a strong interest in the issue as her brother has a disability. While researching for the contest, she asked for ChildFund expertise and materials.

PROMOTION OF THE PWD RIGHT TO EMPLOYMENT

- Baran branch of BELAPDIMI, an alumnus of the ChildFund sub-grant program, successfully advocated for the reduction of the rent payment for their factory for young people with disabilities within a sub-grant supported by ChildFund in the previous project year. This quarter, the Baran branch of BELAPDIMI prepared and sent an appeal to the Parliament of Belarus. As a result, they received a reduced rate for renting the working premises, which is a critical factor for its functioning.
- Zhitkovichi branch of BelAPDI (an alumnus of the ChildFund sub-grant program) organized a roundtable meeting in partnership with the local Social Protection Center and a small enterprise, “The Road to Life” that employs people with Disabilities. The participants discussed the issues of social economics: means of developing a labor market in which people with disabilities can equally participate. The event was covered by the local press ‘Novae Palesse’ and raised awareness of general public about employment problems faced by people with disabilities.

PROMOTION OF THE RIGHT TO PARTICIPATION IN CULTURE

- Baran branch of BELAPDIMI send an appeal to Vitebsk Oblast Committee on Cultural Affairs to advocate for the right of the people with disabilities to full inclusion into community cultural life and events. As a result, a ramp was constructed at the entrance of a local cultural center.

ACTIVITY: Call for project proposals to establish services aimed at introduction of inclusive education, March 14, 2013
Planned	Actual targets achieved
A call for proposals was announced to inform all the potential applicants about the grant competition on inclusive education. App. 2-3 projects to create a supportive environment for inclusive education (promotion of rights for equality and non-discrimination, barrier-free environment, sensitizing local communities) for the total amount of 8500 USD awarded.	A call for proposals on inclusive education was announced through ChildFund list-serves, the national NGO portal, and at the training session for practitioners and decision-makers. Out of six (6) submitted applications, three (3) projects for the total amount of $9171* were selected. The awarded projects will be implemented in a preschool, a school, and a university located in three different regions of the country (Brest, Grodno and Gomel Oblasts). Such selection of grantee organizations presents a favorable opportunity to test the implementation of the inclusive education approach at all the major levels of education.
Note ChildFund offered counseling on proposal writing for the applicants. Together with regular phone calls, three meetings were organized to assist partners in translating their innovative ideas into well-articulated proposals (Baranovich State University, Mozyr school #10, and Gomel Regional Habilitation Center).

OBJECTIVE 3 : SUPPORT INTRODUCTION AND DEVELOPMENT OF INCLUSIVE EDUCATION OF CHILDREN AND YOUNG PEOPLE WITH DISABILITIES

In order to support introduction and development of inclusive education of children and youth with disabilities, from January 1 to March 31:

- two (2) training events were conducted by ChildFund Belarus
- 24 authorities (against 30 planned annually) were trained by the trainers team on inclusive education
- 4 educational settings (against 4 planned annually) started introducing inclusive approaches

ACTIVITY: Task group meeting on inclusive education, January 30, 2013
Planned	Actual targets achieved

The comprehensive range of participating organizations included preschools and universities, mainstream schools and special education institutions. The course contents were designed jointly by trainers of the national team and ChildFund specialists. The participants gained knowledge and developed competencies required for organization and promotion of inclusion in education, attempted to define the model of inclusive education in its implementation and practice. Note: Initially the training program was planned to focus on Brest Oblast solely; however, the meeting's agenda generated deep interest from specialists and decision-makers from across the country, most of whom were participants of the Task Group Meeting. Outcomes: The meeting nurtured new contacts and partnerships between the participants, led to collaboration of several participants, and resulted in 3 project proposals that were submitted to ChildFund's sub-grant contest. The series of training meetings for education authorities nourished new connections between participants that are expected to translate into productive cooperation. For instance, <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Minsk School #12 that teaches students with disabilities in a mainstream classroom will serve as a formal practicum placement for students of Belarusian State Pedagogic University; the school will also collaborate with Baranovichi State University to launch a career counseling service for high school students with disabilities and their parents. • Zhodino school #4 will invite faculties of Belarusian State Pedagogic University to provide counseling on methods of managing children with disabilities; • Sign language specialists of Belarusian State Pedagogic University will advise teachers of Mozyr School #10 on adapting study materials to the needs of students with hearing impairments.

- DPO 'Otkrovenie' and specialists of Baranovich State University pooled their resources in writing a project proposal on development of a trainer's guide on inclusive education.

The knowledge and skills specialists acquire during the trainings supported by the mentioned attitude result in the dynamic follow-up activity that disseminate the values of inclusive education to the many more PWD-related specialists.

Note: List of the participants available at the ChildFund-Belarus office upon request.

Indicator 1.5: Number of children with and without disabilities (sex-disaggregated) who participated in inclusive activities

The annual target is

The current value is

365 (172 boys/193 girls).

The indicator measures the number of children with and without disabilities (sex-disaggregated) who participated in inclusive school and out-of-school activities conducted within the Project Component.

The current measure exceeds the annual target 150%. The figure represents the outstanding achievements by the graduates of ChildFund course 'Leadership without Limits' – teenagers with disabilities that were empowered and confident to self-advocate and educate their peers about inclusive lifestyle. Among other factors contributing to the 730% excess is also the sustainability and relatively straightforward replication of services established with the past subgrants ('The healing magic' by UNESCO clubs).

OBJECTIVE 2:
SUPPORT OF ADVOCACY EFFORTS BY PWD GRASSROOTS ORGANIZATIONS

Indicator 2.1: Number of advocacy efforts aimed at better inclusion of children and young people with disabilities

The annual target is 21.

The current value is 20.

This indicator measures the number of efforts aimed at promotion of inclusion of children and young people with disabilities in school and out-of-school activities implemented by and/or with participation of PWDs and their family members within the Project Component.

The current measure nears the annual target. The events that contributed to the advancement were conducted by both organizations and persons empowered by the respective leadership courses by ChildFund. It is rarely the case that organization/person limit themselves to one initiative only. As the table below demonstrates, the trend is to test a learned skill of advocating and then multiply the efforts with growing confidence and success. Among the contributions to the figure are also the trainings arranged by the ToT course graduates as a follow up activity at their respective localities (see Obj.1) as these meetings presented an innovative instrument of sensitizing the professional community about the values of inclusion.

Indicator 2.2.: Number of official decisions related to better enforcement of the right to education of children and young people with disabilities.

The annual target is 7.

The current value is 4.

This indicator measures the number of official decisions related to better enforcement of the right to education of children and young people with disabilities influenced by and/or with the participation of PWDs and their family members within the Project Component.

On March 26, the Board of Ministry of Education adopted a Regulation 'On Performance of Special Education Institutions under Modern Conditions'. The document defines the states policy with respect to special education and regulates the development of special education system nationwide for years 2013-2016. Out of 35 articles, three address the burning issues of inclusive education:

4.3 'To secure the development and adoption of 'Plan of inclusive education development in Belarus' (2013-2014);

5. 'To obligate Department of information and analysis to include the criterion of inclusiveness in the performance evaluation of primary and secondary education institutions' (May 2013);

Note: The article introduces the changes that will neutralize the concern education institutions demonstrate about the effect students with disability usually make on a school's output score. These changes will increase the willingness of education institutions to enroll a student with disability.

7.2 'To identify and establish education sites to pilot-test inclusive approaches' (2013-2015).

This official stance is a result of targeted efforts by PWD grassroots organizations that are long-term partners of ChildFund (DPOs 'BelAPDI', 'Otkrovenie', 'Special world', 'Children. Autism. Parents'). The responsibilities allocated to governing bodies are to produce opportunities for children with disability that would not otherwise occur. Their potential as a platform for promotion of inclusive education in Belarus cannot be overestimated. ChildFund will take advantage of this milestone decision by organizing meetings with Ministry's representatives to suggest opportunities for cooperation in executing articles 4.3 and 7.2: in the course of project activities, ChildFund developed a Master Plan on Inclusive Education. Many of the ChildFund partner organizations could be considered an optimum choice for pilot testing the innovative approaches.

Baran branch of the national DPO 'BelAPDI' issued an appeal to Vitebsk regional culture committee requesting that a barrier-free environment be created at the local community center. The appeal was satisfied by erecting a ramp at the center's entrance.

OBJECTIVE 3:

SUPPORT INTRODUCTION AND DEVELOPMENT OF INCLUSIVE EDUCATION OF CHILDREN AND YOUNG PEOPLE WITH DISABILITIES

Indicator 3.1.: Number of specialists, authorities, parents, students, volunteers, community members (sex-disaggregated) served by Resource Centers on Inclusive Education

The annual target is n/a.

The current value is n/a

The indicator measures the number of specialists, authorities, parents, students, volunteers, community members (sex-disaggregated) who got information services from Resource Centers on Inclusive Education that have been established within the Project Component.

In the course of the project at least three special habilitation centers in three different regions of the country have been working towards acquiring an expertise and function of resource centers (Smorgon, Mozyr, and Zhodino). Specialists of these institutions actively partake in the trainings by ChildFund and make extensive use of the materials and ideas produced within them. One of the centers was granted a status of experiment base on inclusive education by the Ministry of Education (Mozyr). It is hoped that the experience and achievements accumulated within the project by the end of Year 1 will allow these institutions develop into resource centers on inclusive education.

Indicator 3.2.: Number of authorities (sex-disaggregated) trained by the trainers team on inclusive education

The target value is 30
 The current value is 24 (0m/24f)

Number of authorities of educational system (sex-disaggregated) that have been trained on inclusive education by the National Trainers' Team on Inclusive Education within the Project Component.

Two meetings arranged by ChildFund united 24 decision-makers who represented education institutions of different kinds and scale: from preschool to university, from special institution to executive committee to NGO. The course contents were designed jointly by trainers of the national team Irina Kutzevalova and Olga Svetlakova and ChildFund specialists. When planning, it was deemed optimal to focus such trainings on the most progressive region (Brest Oblast), however the initiative met a high demand and appreciation for trainings on inclusive education by PWD-related organizations across the country, hence the meetings gathered specialists from 5 out of 6 administrative areas of Belarus. Besides providing education, the meeting nurtured new contacts and partnerships between the participants, collaboration of several of them translated into 6 project proposals they submitted within the sub-grant scheme by ChildFund.

Annex 4. Grooming leaders: ChildFund inspires youth with disability and their parents

"Ideals survive through change. They die through inertia in the face of challenge." Tony Blair

Natasha is a 17-year-old girl. She was born with cerebral palsy. She walks with walkers, but most of the time the girl has to use a wheelchair. Generally, the talents and abilities of children with disabilities to play an active role in planning and controlling their lives are underestimated, and interaction of such children with their peers is fairly limited. One of the reasons this practice persists is the overprotecting attitude adopted by parents of children with disabilities that coupled with excessive social pressures to achieve "normal development" and academic success negatively impact social and emotional development of children with disabilities. Being under this pressure, Natasha's mom used to conform to the special education model as the safest and best option to meet the needs of her daughter. The mom emphasized the disadvantages of joint education of children with and without disabilities, because in her opinion, it could put her daughter at risk of stigma and discrimination, and decrease her academic achievements and opportunities for physical therapy and medical activities. Similar to the other parents of children with disabilities, she strongly believed that consistent targeted medical efforts could bring a near-miraculous recovery for her child. This approach overwhelms children and parents with too many stimulation activities, does not allow children to assume leadership roles, and effectively segregates them from the rest of the community.

Natasha and her mom

In 2012, Natasha and her mom participated in the training, 'Leadership without Limitations' for young people, an activity within the 'Expanding Participation of People with Disabilities' component of the USAID funded project, "Community Services to Vulnerable Groups." The course led the whole family through an uneasy transition. Natasha discovered her own personality, her rights and opportunities to fulfill them, and recognized the variety of choices she could own. Natasha's mom participated in training for parents (held simultaneously with the leadership sessions for children) that focused on parenting knowledge and skills, ways of coming to grips with the medical diagnosis and the emotional upheaval, and provided tools parents need to boost their child's self-esteem and to help their children become independent and conscious social beings. Both the mom and the daughter fostered self-acceptance, learned to identify behaviors and environments that are stigmatizing and discriminatory and deal with them. They also discovered methods for building cooperation and partnerships with the community.

ChildFund assisted the course alumni in following up with advocacy interventions to start changing long-held stereotypes about disability. This opportunity determined Natasha's choice: Natasha and her mom developed a training 'Inclusion or Illusion' that educates typical children about the life in a diverse society where every single person is worthwhile and deserves their chances regardless their abilities. They started with the school where Natasha studied. While Natasha did training for the children, her mom educated parents and teachers.

Breaking new ground by educating children about disability and inclusion did not happen quickly. Not until many attempts later did the training meet interest and then – demand. To appeal to the audience, the family team worked proactively to create opportunities for workshops, adjusted the training material, diversified the activities, and complemented them with videos. To become a better advocate for her child, Natasha's mom enrolled in a ToT by ChildFund to become a trainer; today she is a member of a National Trainers' Team on Inclusive Education established and trained by ChildFund.

The hard work Natasha and her mom put in has begun to pay off: today, the training tour's map is expanding. In the last six months, they educated the audience of children and specialists at the Republic Conference and conducted trainings for 136 students of 5 schools in Minsk and small towns. Every meeting is a new challenge, and every one finishes with children and adults approaching the trainers to express appreciation for the inspiration they receive at the training.

Natasha says: "I recognized that my condition is not a disadvantage, but a gift. If you take your condition as a disadvantage, you may spend all your life behind closed doors. I choose another way. I think about my condition as a gift that helps me to pass on to other people the idea that all people have unlimited abilities and should have equal opportunities regardless of their conditions."
