MEMORANDUM

February 28, 1984

TO: S&T/HR, Ruth K. Zagorin
FROM: S&T/ED, David Sprague DS
SUBJECT: Development Communications Clearinghouse (931-1231)

A. Introduction and Summary:

This is an amendment to the project entitled "Development Communications Clearinghouse - 931-1231".

This amendment extends the life-of-project from September 30, 1986 through FY 1989. The amendment also provides the Clearinghouse with the capability to more specifically place emphasis of its staff and work products in the areas of radio and microcomputer uses and applications for development purposes in LDCs. The project is scheduled to end in FY 1989.

Activities supported by this amendment are listed below.

B. Purpose:

The purpose is to provide the Development Communications Clearinghouse staff with sufficient time and financial resources to begin to place special emphasis in the areas of radio and microcomputer uses and applications in LDC development programs. The Clearinghouse will do this over a period of 60 months through research into the literature as well as acquisition of reports from actual in-the-field projects which have (or have had) successful applications of radio and microcomputers in development programs. The Clearinghouse will then report these project activities through its well received quarterly DEVELOPMENT COMMUNICATIONS REPORT. In addition, the library of the Clearinghouse will expand its resources in these two functional areas and continue to provide reference services for planners, practitioners and scholars.

C. Objectives:

-to increase the level of efforts to include special research on the uses of radio and microcomputers in development;

-increase the number of state-of-the-art studies to include a study of the use of microcomputers in development programs;

-to disseminate information on radio and microcomputer uses and applications in development programs to appropriate LDC persons and agencies.
