

PROJECT ASSISTANCE COMPLETION REPORT

PROJECT NUMBER: 515-0168.01
PROJECT TITLE: FAMILY PLANNING SELF RELIANCE
LOP AMOUNT AND DATES: $2.5MILLION, JULY 1983-SEPT.1988
GRANTEE: COSTA RICAN DEMOGRAPHIC ASSOCIATION

PROJECT STATUS AND LESSONS LEARNED:

The Project ended satisfactorily in 1988. An outstanding Advice of Charge from AID/W for a condom purchase delayed this close out. All procurement, training and technical assistance were completed and all reports were received.

Inputs were made by IPPF, in its core support to the ADC, the Caja Costarricense de Seguro Social and Ministry of Health provided clinical services, personnel and facilities, and the project funds provided contraceptives, communications, logistics and research support.

The project was successful, as it led to a new focus on the public sector as implementor of the reproductive health modality, and (a) provided the transition to increased responsibility for the public sector in both political and financial terms. ?

The project also provided the foundation for the contraceptive social marketing program, guiding the initiation and consolidation of the program as a cost-effective alternative to the public sector commodities and services. —

The project was modified in 1988 to change the implementing entities to ~~the~~ the public sector, and spin off PROFAMILIA as a separate Grantee for the contraceptive social marketing program. This decision has proven to be beneficial, both from an institutional, and a demographic point of view. Although disbursements are more rapid via the PVO rather than the governmental mechanism, disbursements are rarely linked to accomplishments when there are many intangible elements. In the case of PROFAMILIA, the sales program does quite accurately match expenditures to achievements. —
