Semi-Annual Interim Administrative Progress Report
June 28, 1969 to December 27, 1969

INTRODUCTION

This report covers the activities of the Development Planning Project of the Center for Development Planning, National Planning Association, for the period June 28, 1969, to December 27, 1969. It is submitted in accordance with the contract between the National Planning Association and the Agency for International Development, AID/Repas-9, Amendment #4, Article I.C. 2a.

I. CONCLUDING PHASE OF THE PROJECT

During the present reporting period the term of the subject contract was extended from June 30, 1970 to August 31, 1970. This extension, under letter Amendment No. 13, did not increase the cost of the contract.

The purpose of the extension was to permit processing of final reports before the Project's supervisory and support staff were terminated. All required reports will be filed as soon as practicable after the termination of the contract, or earlier.

The remaining eight months of the term of the contract will be almost entirely devoted to completion of the final reports, discussed in the next section.

A request for travel authorization for Dr. Paauw and Dr. Fei to visit China: Taiwan to complete collection of data for the Project's application to that country has been granted. This authorized travel will be undertaken in the near future, and the data acquired will be utilized to complete the study on China: Taiwan.

II. RESEARCH ACTIVITIES

As noted in my last report, the Project's general theoretical, methodological and empirical results have now been completed and submitted to the Agency in the form of various interim working papers.

The work of the past six months has been devoted to application of these general results to specific countries. Country models, analyzing the postwar transition growth experience of four Asian countries (China: Taiwan, Malaysia, the Philippines and Thailand), are now being completed and data are being employed to demonstrate the validity of the conclusions. To the extent possible, the applicability of these results to other less-developed countries is being investigated. The policy conclusions from the study, in particular, will be considered from the viewpoint of wider applicability.

The results of the current concluding work will be presented in two forms. Complete results are being prepared as a general comparative study on transition growth in open, dualistic economies, based on the country studies just mentioned. This comprehensive study will emphasize the diversity of growth experience of open, dualistic economies and the importance of recognizing basic differences in underlying growth forces for effective policy and planning. This large study will be presented as a unit, rather than in parts, since its comparative nature requires careful integration of the several sections. An outline of this final study, as presently planned, is attached to this report. At the present time, more than half of this study is in preliminary draft.

In addition to the final study just described, a summary of the project's substantive findings will be prepared for submission to the Agency, as required by Amendment No. 4. This final substantive summary will be written upon completion of the study described above, and will draw upon that study, emphasizing the relevance of the project's entire research experience for the Agency's assistance programs.

Discussions have been held with the Project Monitor to assist in the planning and completion of both the final research report and the summary.

III. TRAVEL

No international travel was undertaken during the period under review. (Dr. Fei, however, is beginning the authorized travel to China: Taiwan--mentioned above--at the end of this present reporting period).

IV. REPORT SUBMITTED TO AID

During the present reporting period, one final study completed by a former staff member of the Project was submitted to AID:

Eliezer B. Ayal, "Manufacturing and Economic Growth: an Application to the Philippines," December, 1969.

V. PROFESSIONAL STAFF

No professional staff changes were made during the period reviewed.

VI. EXPENDITURES MADE DURING THIS PERIOD

The National Planning Association has submitted to the Office of the Comptroller, AID, a completed Form 1034, Public Voucher for Purchases and Services other than Personnel, at the end of each month in the reporting period covering the expenditures allocable to Contract AID/Repas-9. Attached is a summary of these reports in fulfillment of the reporting requirement for a detailed accounting of expenditures under the contract.
