AMERICAN COUNCIL OF VOLUNTARY AGENCIES FOR FOREIGN SERVICE, INC.
Technical Assistance Information Clearing House (TAICH)
200 Park Avenue South, New York, New York 10003

THE AMERICAN COUNCIL OF VOLUNTARY AGENCIES FOR FOREIGN SERVICE, INC. was founded in 1943 for the purpose of providing a forum for cooperation, joint planning and the exchange of ideas and information in order to avoid duplication of effort and assure the maximum effectiveness of the relief, rehabilitation and development programs of American voluntary agencies. Through the mechanism of the Council, member agencies have established relationships not only among themselves, but with non-member agencies and governmental, intergovernmental and international organizations. The Technical Assistance Information Clearing House (TAICH) has been operated by the Council since 1955 with support from the U.S. Government, currently a grant from the Agency for International Development.

THE TECHNICAL ASSISTANCE INFORMATION CLEARING HOUSE serves as a center of information on the socio-economic development programs abroad of U.S. non-profit organizations, including voluntary agencies, church missions and foundations. It makes available to organizations, government, researchers and others, source materials from its files for study and research. Through publications and the maintenance of an everyday inquiry service TAICH responds to the need for current information about development assistance with particular reference to the resources and concerns of the private, non-profit sector.

THE AGENCY FOR INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT (A.I.D.), part of the United States International Development Cooperation Agency, maintains in its Bureau for Private and Development Cooperation a registry of U.S. private and voluntary organizations active in the fields of relief, rehabilitation and development overseas. Registered organizations are eligible to apply for A.I.D. resources, including grants and participation in the U.S. Government overseas freight reimbursement, Food for Peace and Government-owned excess property programs. For a current list of registered organizations write to the Agency for International Development, Office of Private and Voluntary Cooperation, Washington, D.C. 20523. Registered organizations are noted by an *.

INTRODUCTION

Supplement I is the first in a series issued periodically which represents an expansion of the 1978 TAICH directory -- U.S. Non-Profit Organizations in Development Assistance Abroad. A total of 34 U.S. non-profit organizations which were not included in the 1978 directory appears in the supplement. Of this total, 14 are voluntary agencies, 5 are religious organizations and 15 are other non-profit organizations including membership associations and organizations supported by endowment funds, major foundations or governmental agencies.

Category, country and organization indexes are at the back of the supplement. The organization index provides page references to the organization entries alphabetically according to the organizations' official names, secondary or popular names, former names, and in some cases, acronyms. In addition to the categories of assistance listing as found in the 1978 TAICH directory, programs of assistance are cross-indexed under the headings of nutrition, women and youth.

The first set of profile questionnaires were sent out in November 1979. Copy was prepared for those organizations which completed and returned questionnaires before April 1, 1980. The time lapse between the receipt of the first information and the final publication has necessarily resulted in some information being outdated.

The information given on each organization is based on the data supplied to TAICH by the organization. This information, as corrected and approved by the organization, has been accepted in good faith, without further investigation. Publication of the information does not guarantee accuracy of content or endorsement by the American Council or TAICH.

EXECUTIVE STAFF: Warren W. Wiggins, President; Louis L. Mitchell, Executive Vice President for International Programs.

OBJECTIVES: (overall purpose of agency) "To promote the democratic and innovative development of society and to inquire into the nature of the innovative process." (major focus of overseas development assistance programs) "To give technical and management assistance to agencies and groups engaged in integrated development projects, in areas such as rural development, nutrition planning, and women in development."

PROGRAMS OF ASSISTANCE: Under contract with host country governments, U.S. Government agencies and private organizations, provides management consulting services in the planning, implementation and evaluation of field programs in the developing world. Recruits and supervises long-term resident advisors and short-term consultants to work in a wide range of disciplines. Current TransCentury area specialties include appropriate technology; labor, migration and refugee studies; management development services; natural resource management; nutrition; recruitment; social science surveys; and women in development. Management development services provided by TransCentury to U.S. private voluntary agencies involve individual assistance, as well as workshops and seminars, in programming and planning, organizational development and financial management. The Secretariat for Women in Development is designed to assist government and private agencies to implement programs which integrate women more fully in the development process. It offers workshops and technical assistance in project design, management, financial analysis, fund raising and evaluation. Current and recent overseas activities include the following:

Economic & Development Planning. Design and reorganization of national department of rural development for encouragement of construction of higher quality engineering projects, including irrigation structures, bridges and roads.

Education. Development of new employment opportunities for women in areas of textile production, leather goods, food preservation, assembly industries, tourism, and rural tool fabrication. Includes initiation of in-country training of program managers at the national and provincial level, retraining of teachers, revision of existing curriculum and establishment of a job development unit.

Food Production & Agriculture. Assistance in operation of national department of manpower program in which over 500 small, labor-intensive development projects are carried out annually. Selected by local officials, projects include feeder roads, irrigation canals, terracing, reforestation and fish ponds. Evaluation of Peace Corps projects in forestry and marine fisheries to improve project planning and implementation, as well as development of series of appropriate technology manuals to cover forestry, marine fisheries, poultry, animal traction, traditional field crops and general resources.

Industrial Development & Management. Technical assistance to small private enterprises for development of new marketing networks and expansion of existing markets. Plan to undertake study to determine feasibility of developing non-profit marketing organizations to support small village production of artifacts and souvenirs.

Medicine & Public Health. Specialized consultancy services in nutrition, including the provision of intermediate nutrition planners to seven developing countries for design and evaluation of national nutrition programs and policies. Provision of long-term resident rural health advisor to work with Ministry of Health for development of planning capability to improve rural health. Design and implementation of multi-million dollar rural works project to provide potable village water supply systems over a five-year period.

Public Administration. Administration of exchange program whereby African civil servants from southern Africa receive academic and specialized training in health, education, agriculture and related fields in U.S. and African institutions; and U.S. technical experts are recruited to replace host country employees on a long and short-term basis.
