TAICH COUNTRY REPORT
DEVELOPMENT ASSISTANCE PROGRAMS FOR THAILAND

April 1981

This report describes the programs of 75 private, non-profit U.S. organizations which provide the people of Thailand with development assistance and material aid. An index of the specific programs appears in chart form at the end of the report. Of the 75 U.S. organizations included in the report, 53 were able to provide TAICH with financial data indicating program expenditures in 1980 totaling $32,558,179. These figures should be viewed more as indicators than as exact sums; differences in fiscal year, methods of financial reporting and methods of estimating dollar values of commodities, equipment and material shipped make correlation and absolute accuracy impossible.

This is one of a series of periodically revised reports which describe by country the development assistance activities of the U.S. non-profit sector. Additional and new information on the programs of the organizations appearing in this report is gathered regularly and is available from TAICH. Readers are requested to advise TAICH of any changes or new programs of U.S. private, non-profit organizations in Thailand. Besides country reports, TAICH publishes directories, bibliographies, a quarterly newsletter and a series of category reports in which descriptions of assistance programs are compiled by functions of development assistance. A publications list is available from TAICH.

The information given on each organization is based on the data supplied to TAICH by the organization. Publication of this information does not guarantee accuracy of content or endorsement by the American Council or TAICH of any organization.

AMERICAN COUNCIL OF VOLUNTARY AGENCIES FOR FOREIGN SERVICE, INC.
TECHNICAL ASSISTANCE INFORMATION CLEARING HOUSE (TAICH)
200 Park Avenue South, New York, New York 10003

THE AMERICAN COUNCIL OF VOLUNTARY AGENCIES FOR FOREIGN SERVICE, INC. was founded in 1943 for the purpose of providing a forum for cooperation, joint planning and the exchange of ideas and information in order to avoid duplication of effort and assure the maximum effectiveness of the relief, rehabilitation and development programs of American voluntary agencies. Through the mechanism of the Council, member agencies have established relationships not only among themselves but with non-member agencies and governmental, intergovernmental and international organizations. The Technical Assistance Information Clearing House (TAICH) has been operated by the Council since 1955 with support from the U.S. Government, currently a grant from the Agency for International Development. All agencies that are Council members are noted by a +.

THE TECHNICAL ASSISTANCE INFORMATION CLEARING HOUSE serves as a center of information on the socio-economic development programs abroad of U.S. non-profit organizations, including voluntary agencies, church missions and foundations. It makes available to organizations, government, researchers and others, source materials from its files for study and research. Through publications and the maintenance of an everyday inquiry service TAICH responds to the need for current information about development assistance with particular reference to the resources and concerns of the private, non-profit sector.

THE AGENCY FOR INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT (A.I.D.), part of the United States International Development Cooperation Agency, maintains in its Bureau for Private and Development Cooperation a registry of U.S. private and voluntary organizations active in the fields of relief, rehabilitation and development overseas. Registered organizations are eligible to apply for A.I.D. resources, including grants and participation in the U.S. Government overseas freight reimbursement, Food for Peace and Government-owned excess property programs. For a current list of registered organizations write to the Agency for International Development, Office of Private and Voluntary Cooperation, Washington, D.C. 20523. Registered organizations are noted by an *.

COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT: Operates "Tambol" Development Project, a two-year project located in the northeast, which is encouraging rural women and youth to participate in the village development process. Project provides training in agriculture and new occupational skills and techniques, and increases the income-earning capability of these people. In cooperation with the Government of Thailand, Department of Community Development, and with partial funding from the U.S. Agency for International Development, operates the "Tambol" Revolving Loan Fund, a rural credit system which enables rural women and youth to initiate income-generating projects in their villages with the participation of the villagers. To date 444 young adults in 37 "tambols" (370 villages) have received training, as well as loans for small businesses in sewing, weaving, dyeing, hairdressing, agriculture, small engine repair, masonry, carpentry and radio repair. With partial funding from IBM World Trade Americas/Far East Corporation operates the Rural Women's Leadership Training Project under which a group of 50 women village development leaders in Udon Thani District is being trained in an attempt to expand the leadership and participation of Thai women as co-equals in the rural development process. After four months training in leadership principles, group organization and dynamics, agriculture and other farm related skills and techniques, village development planning and peer training practice, the trainees will implement small-scale income-generating pilot projects supported by a revolving fund and technical assistance.

EQUIPMENT & MATERIAL AID: Supplying well-baby kits containing soap, powder, towels, blankets and other basics to refugee parents of Kampuchean infants; malaria vaccine has also been distributed.

MEDICINE & PUBLIC HEALTH: Operates Kra Nuan Community Health Services, a demonstration health project, begun in April 1980, with support from IBM Thailand, which teaches village volunteers in Kra Nuan District to identify health problems, treat minor illnesses and help administer village health services. Emphasizes proper nutrition and improved feeding for newborn infants, children, and pregnant and lactating mothers. Through a project which received partial funding from IBM Thailand is helping to provide eyeglasses to 4,000 disadvantaged children by supplying lenses and frames.

SOCIAL WELFARE: Operates the Community Services Center Project which serves 9,500 residents, including 7,500 disadvantaged children under 15 years of age, in two Bangkok housing projects through expansion of maternal-child care, education, recreation and welfare services. This project emphasizes self-help and will be implemented with the cooperation of the Department of Public Welfare, and with partial funding from the U.S. Agency for International Development.

FUTURE PLANS: To provide a mobile field hospital for eastern Thailand; to develop a maternal/child health program; to provide support for family planning activities; to establish a goods-in-kind program through which disinfectants, antiseptics, blankets and non-prescription pharmaceuticals can be supplied; to provide eyeglasses to refugees and displace Thais. With the partial support of the U.S. Agency for International Development will operate the Mae Hong Sun Hill Tribe Health and Family Planning Project for 60,000 members of highland tribes in Mae Hong Sun Province.

The Thailand Rural Reconstruction Movement, organized with the help of IIRR in 1967, is a private, indigenous organization. IIRR supports the TRRM in three ways: providing training for Thai technical personnel at IIRR's center in the Philippines; providing technical follow-up; and providing minimal financial support. TRRM's field operations headquarters and training center are located in Chainat Province in central Thailand (about 220 km from Bangkok). Its present three-year plan will focus on 48 villages of Chainat and the neighboring province of Uthai Thani. Every core village has a simple center for meetings and classes. TRRM works with the village people in the following programs:

COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT: Training of village leaders, organization of village development committees for community projects such as village road building and improvement; establishment of a water users' organization; development of indigenous leaders in agriculture; various agricultural and sports activities.

COOPERATIVES, CREDIT UNIONS & LOANS: Organization of credit unions, buying clubs, animal husbandry cooperatives and a community rice mill, housewives' and youth groups.

EDUCATION: Under its new three-year program of a "Village Management System for Integrated Rural Development", trains lay volunteers in various life-improvement techniques, which they in turn share with their fellow villagers. Assisting formal and non-formal education, nurseries, vocational classes, functional literacy and adult education.

COOPERATIVES, CREDIT UNIONS & LOANS: Supports a project of the Evangelical Covenant Church of America (ECCA) to help small farmers who are victims of loan sharks. Many of these farmers have been forced to sell their rice field to cover past debts. They are lent pigs and given training in raising and caring for them along with other assistance. Profits are split between the pig bank and the farmer who receives another piglet and less assistance until he becomes self-sufficient. Loan repayments go to refinance the program and set up others in pig raising. Also ECCA has purchased a rice mill and hopes to stop local loan sharks by offering farmers low interest loans to be repaid at the harvest.

SOCIAL WELFARE: Provides support for a handicraft program in the refugee camps. Refugees are taught various handicrafts in the camps and the goods are marketed and the funds used to help purchase new supplies. This provides the people with some income and keeps them occupied in the refugee camps.

PERSONNEL: 4 U.S., 15 local.
