INTRODUCTION

A.I.D. Population Assistance

Over the past 23 years, A.I.D. has provided almost $3.4 billion in worldwide population assistance -- giving critical population and family planning help to a majority of the developing countries in all regions of the world. In FY 1988, A.I.D. funded population and family planning activities in over 90 countries around the world, as well as activities that were worldwide in scope.

A.I.D.'s grants and contracts support a variety of types of projects: technical assistance to design and set up family planning programs; training of program personnel; provision of contraceptive supplies and other commodities; and support of in-country service delivery, research, policy development and information/education activities. These latter in-country subproject activities are the focus of this report.

The following pages give a country-by-country listing of A.I.D.-funded subprojects, which accounted for $49,631,000 in expenditures in FY 1988 (see table on the following page). The data source for this report is the Population Projects Database administered by A.I.D.'s Office of Population.

A.I.D. support for population and family planning activities comes from the population planning account, which obligated approximately $195 million in FY 1988, and from special accounts, which support population projects along with their other activities.

Population planning account funds are administered through two mechanisms: centrally, through the Directorate for Population in the Bureau of Science and Technology (S&T/POP); and, bilaterally and regionally, through A.I.D. Missions and Regional Bureaus and their subdivisions, e.g. REDSO, ROCAP. (For a diagram and further description of this funding stream especially earmarked for population and family planning, please see figure 1.)

The special accounts include the Economic Support Funds, the Sahel Development Fund, the Sub-Saharan Africa Development Fund, and funds from the Child Survival account and the Health account. The use of Economic Support Funds and the Sahel Development Fund for population activities has diminished in recent years, but the Africa Development Fund is now taking on a more prominent role in financing population activities.

*NOTE: For a country-by-country tally of total centrally-funded population activities and "buy-ins" to these activities (in-country subprojects plus other central support), please see the "Worldwide Report on A.I.D. Centrally Funded Population Assistance" (CA Cost Report) which is published annually.

* In the August publication of this report, the FY 87 figures were overstated due to the fact that some technical assistance and training activities were erroneously reported as in-country subproject activities.

The Regional Bureaus and USAID Missions support population activities through a variety of mechanisms including grants to host governments, regional and Mission contracts with Cooperating Agencies, and "buy-ins" to existing central contracts utilizing Mission and regional project funds. Host governments may use their grant funds either to finance their own population programs, or to contract with A.I.D. Cooperating Agencies (through host country contracts) or with other organizations for assistance.

Summary of A.I.D. Subproject Activities

This FY 1987 - FY 1988 report includes information on 2,070 A.I.D. subproject activities in 94 countries. Of these, 613, or 30 percent of the total, concentrate on family planning service delivery. Training-oriented activities comprise the next largest group, with 497 subprojects or 24 percent of the total. Another 346, or 17 percent, emphasize research to develop improved contraceptive methods. An additional 182 subprojects, or 8 percent, focus on education, information and communications with regard to family planning. And 144, or 7 percent, are primarily concerned with operations research aimed at developing improved ways to deliver family planning services in developing countries.

The distribution of subproject expenditures among the three major regions has not changed markedly in the past year. In FY 1988, 24 percent of the in-country subproject funds were expended in Africa, 25 percent in Asia/Near East countries, and 38 percent in Latin America/Caribbean countries (see figure 2).

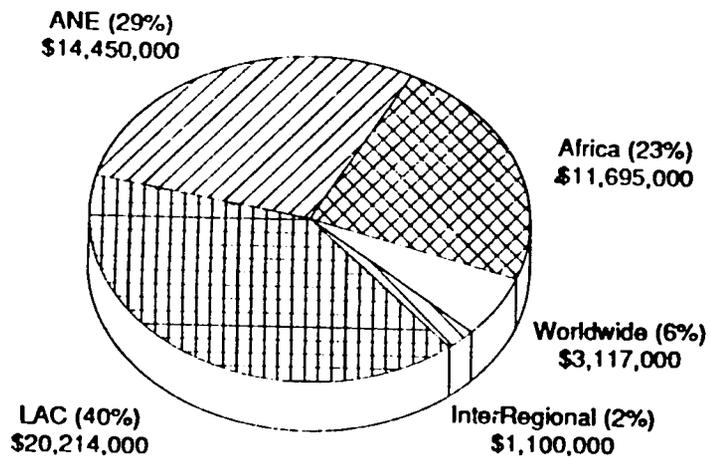

The vast majority of the in-country subproject activities are centrally funded. In FY 1988, Office of Population contracts accounted for 76 percent of subproject expenditures; buy-ins to centrally-funded contracts accounted for 9 percent, and Mission or regional contracts accounted for 14 percent of subproject expenditures.

A.I.D.'s in-country population assistance activities are carried out by the A.I.D. Missions overseas (USAID Missions) and by the 30 private Cooperating Agencies (CA's) which are identified in the List of Current Contracts, which accompanies this report.

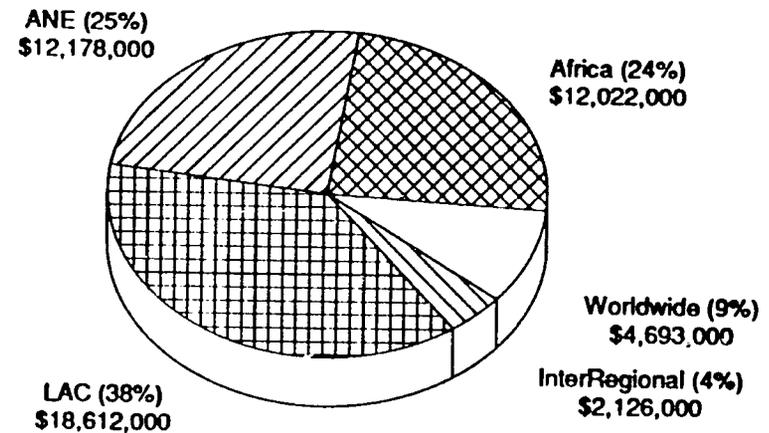

Source of Data

The data in this report were assembled from the Population Projects Database (PPD), a computer-based information system maintained for the Agency for International Development by John Snow, Inc. in Boston, Massachusetts with data contributions from A.I.D. Cooperating Agencies. Up-to-date information on all in-country population activities funded since 1983 by A.I.D. is maintained in the PPD. Both descriptive information and annual cost data related to these activities are included in the database.

1987 and 1988 Expenditures by CAs for In-Country Subproject Activities

1987 Expenditures

Figure 2

The PPD currently includes information on nearly 4,000 population assistance projects funded by A.I.D. in over 110 countries. It also includes 700 projects funded by the United Nations Population Fund (UNFPA) and 100 projects funded by the International Planned Parenthood Federation (IPPF). These data include project and contract number, host country, subproject and contractor information, the subproject's goals and special concerns, descriptive information about the objectives and activities of the program, funding figures, and an end-of-project assessment.

The database is used by A.I.D. primarily for program planning and management of population programs. The PPD, which focuses on subproject level activities and in-country subproject costs, is used in conjunction with the contract-level Country Funding Attribution (CA Cost) Report to make funding decisions. Cooperating Agencies and other international agencies are encouraged to make use of the information contained in the PPD as well.

Africa Region
In-Country Subproject Activity

In FY 1988, A.I.D. grants and contracts funded 449 subproject activities in the following 32 African countries:

Benin	Kenya	Sierra Leone
Botswana	Lesotho	Somalia
Burkina Faso	Liberia	Sudan
Burundi	Madagascar	Swaziland
Cameroon	Malawi	Tanzania
Central African Republic	Mali	Togo
Chad	Mauritius	Uganda
Congo	Niger	Zaire
Gambia	Nigeria	Zambia
Ghana	Rwanda	Zimbabwe
Ivory Coast	Senegal

Nearly 35 percent of the subprojects in Africa were family planning service delivery activities (see figure 3). The next largest group, 26.5 percent, included training activities, followed by IE&C and policy development (10 percent each), and operations research activities (8 percent).

FY 1988 Activities in Africa
(Number and Types of Subprojects)

This emphasis on family planning service delivery and training is similar to that in the Asia/Near East and the Latin America/Caribbean regions. But because the concept of family planning is so much newer and less well accepted in Africa than in the other regions, the subproject activities themselves are at a much different level, requiring a higher degree of technical assistance.

Prior to 1980, only 4 African countries had national policies calling for lower population growth. Even today, only about 20 percent of the African nations have explicit population policies, so technical assistance for policy development and demographic data collection and analysis are important aspects of the A.I.D.-funded projects.

Quite often, legislative issues must be addressed before family planning programs can get off the ground. This is particularly true in many of the Francophone countries where the 1920 French law banning contraceptives is still on the books. Regulatory issues -- such as who can prescribe or distribute contraceptives -- must also be addressed.

Many of the African countries are just now putting together service delivery projects. Most of them are pilot projects or small demonstrations, again with a heavy emphasis on technical assistance and training of program personnel. Service delivery projects are handled almost exclusively through government agencies or very small non-government organizations (with Kenya as a notable exception). The concept of social marketing of contraceptives was only very recently introduced in Africa. Current social marketing subprojects must concentrate on institution building.

In FY 1988, subproject expenditures in the Africa Region totaled $12,022,000. Approximately 84 percent of these expenditures were made under central contracts (see figure 4). Buy-ins to centrally-funded activities represented another 13 percent of subproject expenditures.

Bilateral expenditures and buy-ins from the USAID Missions tend to be relatively small in this region because the demand for contraceptive services is still low in most of the African countries. Special funds will become important in this region as a result of the FY 1988 advent of the Sub-Saharan Africa Development Fund which is becoming the primary source of Mission and Africa Region population assistance.

WORLDWIDE REPORT ON
A.I.D. AND IPPF FUNDED POPULATION ACTIVITIES
FY 1987 - FY 1988

Asia / Near East Region

Office of Population

Asia/Near East Region
In-Country Subproject Activity

In FY 1988, A.I.D. grants and contracts funded 395 subproject activities in the following 22 countries of Asia and the Near East:

Bangladesh	Malaysia	Singapore
Egypt	Morocco	South Korea
Fiji	Nepal	Sri Lanka
India	Other (Noumea)	Taiwan
Indonesia	Pakistan	Thailand
Israel	Papua New Guinea	Tunisia
Jordan	Philippines	Turkey
Lebanon

Nearly 35 percent of the subprojects in the Asia/Near East (ANE) Region were family service delivery activities (see figure 5). The next largest group, 19 percent, included contraceptive research activities, followed by training (17 percent) and operations research activities (8 percent).

FY 1988 Activities in Asia/Near East
(Number and Types of Subprojects)

The Asia/Near East Region, even though it has over twice the population of the Africa and Latin America Regions combined, currently has the smallest number of active population subprojects of the three regions. In large part, the lower levels of subproject activity reflect the development of bilateral programs of population assistance, e.g., in Bangladesh, Pakistan, Nepal, Indonesia, Thailand, the Philippines, Egypt and Jordan, and higher levels of government commitment of resources to population programs.

Family planning in Asia has had far greater support from political leaders than in other parts of the world, in part because of a recognition of the problems associated with rapid population growth. A lengthy history of assistance by A.I.D. and other donors has resulted in well-trained personnel in both the public and private sectors in many countries of the region.

Many of the service delivery subprojects focus on setting up contraceptive delivery systems, especially in rural areas. Social marketing of contraceptives is a well-established idea in the region. In fact, the first social marketing projects were developed in Bangladesh, Egypt and Nepal. Today's subprojects are working on sustainability and can concentrate on higher levels of technical assistance such as cost-benefit analysis and better strategic planning.

In FY 1988, subproject expenditures in the Asia/Near East Region totaled $12,178,000. Approximately 55 percent of these expenditures were made under central contracts (see figure 6). Buy-ins to centrally-funded activities represented another 19 percent of subproject expenditures. Bilateral and regional expenditures, at 24 percent of the total, are relatively high, reflecting the activity of the 16 A.I.D. Missions in the Asia/Near East Region.

WORLDWIDE REPORT ON
A.I.D. AND IPPF FUNDED POPULATION ACTIVITIES
FY 1987 - FY 1988

Latin America / Caribbean Region

Office of Population
Agency for International Development
January 1989

Latin America/Caribbean Region
In-Country Subproject Activity

In FY 1988, A.I.D. grants and contracts funded 503 subproject activities in 25 Latin American and Caribbean countries:

Argentina	Ecuador	Panama
Barbados	El Salvador	Paraguay
Belize	Grenada	Peru
Bolivia	Guatemala	St. Kitts
Brazil	Haiti	St. Lucia
Chile	Honduras	Trinidad & Tobago
Colombia	Jamaica	Uruguay
Costa Rica	Mexico	Venezuela
Dominican Republic

Nearly 32 percent of the subprojects in the Latin America/Caribbean (LAC) Region were family service delivery activities (see figure 7). The next largest group, 24 percent, focused on training. Contraceptive research (13 percent), operations research activities (10.5 percent), and IE&C (8.5 percent) made up the bulk of the remainder.

FY 1988 Activities in Latin America/Caribbean
(Number and Types of Subprojects)

A.I.D.'s goal in the Latin America/Caribbean Region is to expand access to family planning so that 80 percent of the couples of childbearing age have access to the information and services they need to control their family size.

The A.I.D.-funded subprojects in this region emphasize the use of private sector and commercial mechanisms. In most of the countries of the region, the private sector remains strong even in the midst of political changes and the commercial infrastructure is quite advanced. As a result, the private and commercial sectors often deliver family planning services which, in other nations, might be the province of government agencies.

Service delivery subprojects in this region emphasize sustainability. The social marketing activities, taking advantage of the region's developed commercial sector, are state-of-the-art projects.

In FY 1988, subproject expenditures in the Latin America/Caribbean Region totaled $18,612,000. Approximately 76 percent of these expenditures were made under central contracts (see figure 8). Activities funded through Mission and Regional Bureau contracts accounted for another 20 percent. Buy-ins to centrally-funded activities represented 4 percent of subproject expenditures.

WORLDWIDE REPORT ON
A.I.D. AND IPPF FUNDED POPULATION ACTIVITIES
FY 1987 - FY 1988

USA / Canada

Office of Population
Agency for International Development
January 1989

12/21

United States/Canada
In-Country Subproject Activity

In FY 1988, 59 of the 86 subprojects in the United States/Canada Region were contraceptive research projects. Training (13 percent), IE&C (7 percent), family planning services (6 percent), demographic research and contraceptive commodities (3 percent each), and operations research activities (2 percent), accounted for the remainder (see figure 9).

FY 1988 Activities in the US and Canada
(Number and Types of Subprojects)

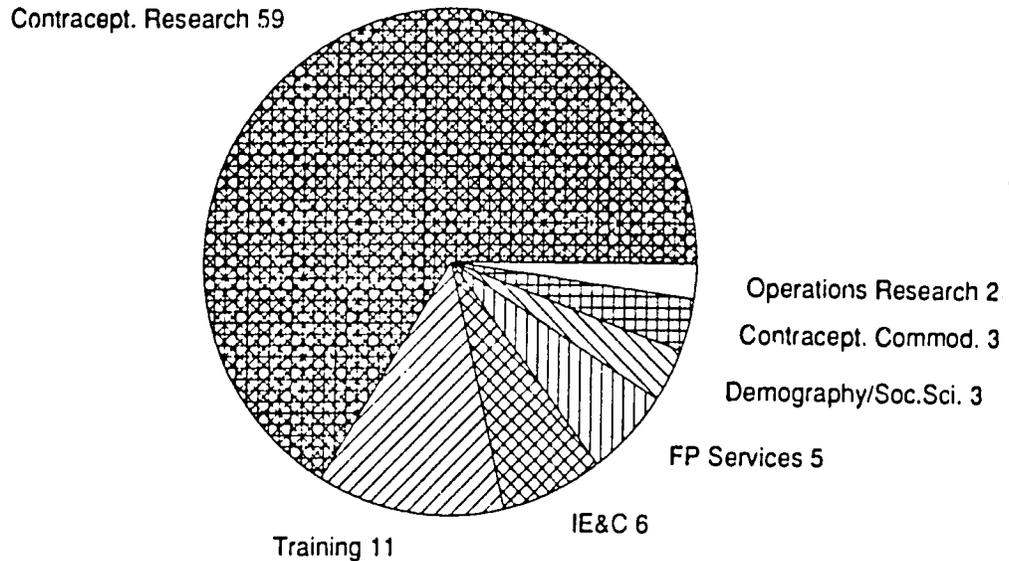

Figure 9

The contraceptive research subprojects support a variety of activities on the development of improved or new contraceptive methods including long-acting injectables and implants, non-surgical and/or reversible methods of male and female sterilization, better barrier methods and spermicides that prevent conception and the transmission of sexually-transmitted diseases including HIV, contraceptive vaccines and non-steroidal gonadal factors.

225

Most of the collaborating institutions in North America are university or hospital based although the Agency also supports collaboration with private industry, including both pharmaceutical companies and small high technology firms.

Subproject expenditures in the United States/Canada Region amounted to $4,018,000 in FY 1988, or 8 percent of total subproject expenditures. All of the funds came through central contracts (see figure 10).

Europe and Australia
In-Country Subproject Activity

Only 23 subprojects were active in Europe and Australia during FY 1988, and almost all of these were contraceptive research projects carried out by universities or other medical research facilities (see figure 11).

These research subprojects are developing a wide range of contraceptives which may be suitable for use in developing country family planning programs -- contraceptives ranging from vaccines, to new spermicides, to natural family planning, to new sterilization methods.

Subproject expenditures in this region accounted for $675,000 in FY 1988 or 1 percent of total subproject expenditures. All of these activities were funded under contracts from the Directorate of Population (see figure 12).

Inter Regional
In-Country Subproject Activity

Interregional activities in FY 1988 included 12 subprojects, each of which was carried out in more than one region; some are worldwide in scope. Nearly 42 percent of these subprojects provided policy development assistance, 17 percent focused on training, and 17 percent emphasized contraceptive research (see figure 13).

In FY 1988, interregional activities accounted for 4 percent of subproject expenditures or $2,126,000. All of the interregional activities were funded as part of central contracts (see figure 14).
