INTRODUCTION

The "List of Free Materials in Family Planning/Maternal and Child Health, 1990" has been compiled by INTRAH as an INTRAH Training Information Packet (INTRAH TIP). INTRAH TIPs are distributed to training and service organizations in developing countries and to international agencies for the purpose of sharing useful ideas, outstanding training or reference materials, and relevant information on a variety of subjects with trainers, training program managers and field workers in FP/MCH.

Family planning/maternal and child health professionals require reference and training materials to perform their jobs effectively and to keep up-to-date in their fields of expertise. It is the aim of this INTRAH TIP to inform these health care professionals of the large number of materials available free of charge from health agencies around the world.

The materials included in the fourth edition of the "List of Free Materials in Family Planning/Maternal and Child Health, 1990" are either available free of charge to all requestors or free only to persons working in developing countries. In some cases there is a limit on the number of copies which may be requested. Information on these restrictions has been included in the description of each item.

Please note that INTRAH does NOT distribute the materials in this list, except those which were actually developed by INTRAH, as indicated in the list.

You can request materials by writing directly to the agency identified at the end of each material's description. A sample request letter has been included (see Appendix) to assist you in obtaining materials.

If you have questions or comments about this INTRAH Training Information Packet, or if you have information about other free materials which we could include in the next update of this list, please write to:
