Key Information Sources in Zaire

KEY INFORMATION SOURCES IN ZAIRE

One of the most important functions of the SANRU Documentation Center will be to establish close relationships with other health organizations in Zaire. Obtaining, organizing, and disseminating health information relevant to Zaire will enable the documentation center to make a valuable contribution to primary health care. Key organizations in Zaire are as follows.

1) University of Kinshasa/School of Public Health

The School of Public Health plans to acquire the Rockefeller Foundation's Selected Medical Library on Microfiche. The microfiche library consists of 94 journals that are important in international biomedical and health literature. Journal volumes from 1982 to 1987 are included. This provides a basic medical collection. Citation studies have shown that this basic collection should contain 80 percent of the relevant material for any medical specialty in a given year.

Obtaining this library will provide the School of Public Health with one of the most comprehensive medical libraries in Africa. The School of Public Health and the SANRU Documentation Center can become Zaire's National Library of Medicine. It is important that SANRU and the School of Public Health collaborate closely in collection development, standardizing classification systems, bibliographic databases, etc.

Discussions have been held with Dr. Richard Shay of the U.S. National Library of Medicine in Bethesda, Maryland. Dr. Shay, who is in charge of the International Division at the National Library of Medicine expressed interest in initiating activities in Zaire. The National Library of Medicine could provide assistance in collection development, access to MEDLINE, etc. The consultant will brief Dr. Shay upon his return and discuss collaboration between the National Library of Medicine and SANRU and the School of Public Health.

2) Peace Corps

Peace Corps regularly receives reports from volunteers in the field. These reports include knowledge, attitudes, and practices surveys, nutrition surveys, etc. The Peace Corps health officer agreed to make these reports available to SANRU's Documentation Center. SANRU's librarian should make periodic visits to Peace Corps and obtain copies of reports that would be useful.

3) USAID General Development Library

The AID Mission maintains a library of approximately 3,000 publications. It also has a collection of 30 to 40 video-cassettes. Several of these are on health and nutrition. A small distribution center in the library contains AID publications in French. Several of these pertain to health, water supply and sanitation.

It will be important for the SANRU librarian to provide copies of current awareness bulletins, bibliographies, etc. to the AID Library. This will make the AID community aware of the documentation center's activities and importance.

4) UNICEF

UNICEF conducts oral rehydration therapy, immunization, and water and sanitation projects in zones not covered by SANRU. Andre H. Vandenberghe, Administrator of Rural Hydraulic Projects, stated that copies of UNICEF reports could be provided to the Documentation Center. Vandenberghe also maintains files on UNICEF water and sanitation projects. These provide data on water and sanitation facilities installed, population served, etc. UNICEF owns seven WANG PC computers and expressed interest in receiving copies of bibliographies, bulletins, directories, etc., produced by the Documentation Center.

5) World Health Organization

The WHO office in Kinshasa regularly receives new publications from WHO/Brazzaville. While there is an excellent collection of more than 2,000 publications, the collection is not organized or cataloged. WHO expressed interest in adopting SANRU's classification system for organizing the collection. SANRU's librarian should provide a training session to WHO in classifying and organizing their collection. In return, WHO should investigate the feasibility of receiving two copies of each publication from Brazzaville. One copy then could be provided to the SANRU Documentation Center.

6) Centre d'Etudes et d'Action Sociale

The library for this center contains over 20,000 documents and receives a wide range of journals. The center does work in social sciences, while the library covers all areas of development with emphasis on Zairian-specific documents and reports. The most recent health-related publication in the library is dated 1971, so the SANRU Documentation Center should be a valuable resource for the center.

7) Other organizations and information centers which should be visited by the SANRU librarian are:

- REGIDESO
- FONAMES
- CEPLANUT
- Bibliotheque National

The librarian should note the content and scope of each organization's information resources, methods of organization, and computer software and hardware.

SECTION 4

AID-Sponsored Organizations and Information Centers

AID-SPONSORED ORGANIZATIONS AND INFORMATION CENTERS

The following list is a directory of key organizations in the area of primary health care. The SANRU librarian should write a brief letter to each of these organizations. The letter should describe the purpose, collection, and services of the Documentation Center and request that the Center be placed on mailing lists to receive notices, reports, etc.

1. Academy for Educational Development
Clearinghouse on Development Communication
1255 23rd Street, NW
Washington, DC 20037
USA

The Clearinghouse provides information and services to promote the use of communication in developing country programs. It provides library, research, and referral services to individuals in developing countries.

2. Academy for Educational Development
Communication for Child Survival
(HEALTHCOM)
1255 23rd Street, NW
Washington, DC 20037
USA

Contact: Mark Rasmuson

The Academy's purpose is to support communication efforts aimed at increasing use of oral rehydration therapy, immunization, and other child survival practices. Publications include evaluation reports from Gambia, Honduras, and Swaziland.

3. American Public Health Association
Clearinghouse on Infant Feeding and Maternal Nutrition
1015 15th Street, NW
Washington, DC 20005
USA

Contact: Gayle Gibbons

This project disseminates information about all aspects of infant feeding and maternal nutrition. It responds to information requests from developing countries and provides photocopies of documents and bibliographies on specific topics.

4. Child Survival Action Program
Support Institute for International Programs
615 N. Wolfe Street
Johns Hopkins University
Baltimore, MD 21205
USA

Contact: Henry Mosley

This project provides a broad program of technical assistance, operations research, information dissemination, and training. Information resources include publication of Child Survival Action News and development of a child survival database.

5. Demographic and Health Surveys
Westinghouse Public Applied Systems
P. O. Box 866
Columbia, MD 21044
USA

Contact: Robert Lapham

The purpose of this project is to strengthen host country capabilities for undertaking health and demographic surveys. Publications include project reports.

6. Diagnostic Technology for Community Health (DIATECH)
Program for Appropriate Technology in Health
Canal Place
130 Nickerson Street
Seattle, WA 98109
USA

Contact: Karen Auditore-Hargreaves

DIATECH helps to develop, adapt, and transfer simple cost-effective diagnostic technologies in support of treatment and control programs for three causes of infant and child mortality: 1) malaria, 2) diarrheal diseases, and 3) acute respiratory infections. Publications include proceedings of DIATECH workshops: Vol. I - Typhoid Fever and Diarrheal Diseases; Vol. II - Malaria.

7. Education Development Center
International Nutrition Communication Service
55 Chapel Street
Newton, MA 02160
USA

Contact: Ron Israel

The project provides technical assistance in nutrition education. It responds to requests from government ministries, international agencies, and non-governmental organizations. Publications include catalogs that review training manuals, mass media, and support material.

8. Family Health International
Research Triangle Park, NC 27709
USA

Contact: Dr. Malcolm Potts

Family Health International conducts clinical trials of new and improved methods of fertility control, evaluates delivery systems, and supports a program of contraceptive safety and health research. FHI publications are free on request. Some of these are available in French. An illustrated quarterly, NETWORK, reports on current research in the health and population field and is available free of charge.

9. HHS Resource Report
Office of International Health
Department of Health and Human Services
5600 Fishers Lane, Room 1887
Rockville, MD 20857
USA

Contact: Linda Vogel

This project provides assistance to developing countries in project development implementation and evaluation of health programs and workshops. Publications include proceedings and papers.

10. Johns Hopkins University
Population Information Program
624 North Broadway
Baltimore, MD 21205
USA

Contact: Phyllis T. Piotrow

This program Publishes Population Reports, a bimonthly journal of family planning programs and contraceptive technology. Population Reports is available in French as well as English and is distributed free of charge to developing countries.

The program also maintains POPLINE, a computerized bibliographic database covering international health, population, and family planning. Developing countries can request searches and documents free of charge. The database contains over 300 references about Zaire.

11. MEDEX Group
University of Hawaii
1833 Kalakuna Avenue, Suite 700
Honolulu, HI 96815
USA

Contact: Richard Smith

This project promotes the use of training materials which can be adapted to suit local circumstances and are appropriate for community health workers, mid-level health care providers and program managers. Publications include 35 volumes of MEDEX Training Modules.

12. Milwaukee International Health Training Center
Milwaukee County Courthouse
901 N. 9th Street, Room 201
Milwaukee, WI 53233
USA

Contact: Frederick Tavill

The Center provides non-degree training of health workers from developing countries. Training courses are held in Milwaukee and developing countries. Publications include workshop reports and conference proceedings.

13. PRITECH Project
1655 N. Fort Myer Drive., Suite 700
Arlington, VA 22209
USA

Contact: Elizabeth Jennings

This project strengthens primary health care through oral rehydration therapy and other health interventions. The information center produces annotated bibliographies and responds to information requests. Publications include Manual for Assessment and Planning of National ORT Programs, Report of an ORT Workshop: Africa, 1985, etc.

14. Primary Health Care Operations Research
Center for Human Services
5530 Wisconsin Avenue
Chevy Chase, MD 20815
USA

Contact: David Nicholas

This project develops and supports operations research on key obstacles impeding host country efforts to design, implement, and sustain primary health care programs. Publications include methodology papers on operations research methods and issue papers on community financing, community health workers, and community organization.

15. Program for International Training in Health (INTRAH)
208 North Columbia Street
Chapel Hill, NC 27514
USA

Contact: Cathy Murphy

This program conducts training programs so that developing countries can plan and implement their own maternal and child health/family health training programs. INTRAH offers pre-service and in-service training programs. Publications include training manuals in French as well as other languages.

16. Resources for Child Health (REACH)
John Snow, Inc.
9th Floor, 1100 Wilson Boulevard
Arlington, VA 22209
USA

Contact: Norbert Hirschhorn

This project helps promote, support, improve, and expand immunization programs. A secondary area of assistance is the financing of health care. A manual on the design and evaluation of immunization programs will be available in the fall of 1986. A resource library is being organized.

17. Vector Biology and Control Project
1611 North Kent Street, Rm. 503
Arlington, VA 22209
USA

Contact: Ms. Ione Auston

This project provides training and technical assistance in the design, implementation and evaluation of vector control programs. The information center responds to information requests and produces annotated bibliographies.

18. Water and Sanitation for Health Project (WASH)
1611 North Kent Street, Rm. 1002
Arlington, VA 22209
USA

Contact: James Beverly

This project provides technical assistance, services, and information support in the areas of rural and urban water supply and sanitation. The information center contains over 5,000 documents and distributes copies of the more than 200 WASH reports which have been published.

SECTION 5

African Organizations and Information Centers
Involved in Primary Health Care

INVOLVED IN PRIMARY HEALTH CARE

1. African Medical and Research Foundation (AMREF)
Health Behavior and Education Department
Wilson Airport, Langata Road
P. O. Box 30125
Nairobi, Kenya

The Health Behavior and Education Department conducts operational research to promote better health programs. AMREF offers Defender, a health education journal for lay readers, and a health education manual for primary health care workers.

2. African Regional Health Education Centre (ARHEC)
University of Ibadan, Faculty of Medicine
Department of Preventive and Social Medicine
Ibadan, Nigeria

Contact: Joshua Adeniyi/Director

ARHEC trains health educators for health education program development and health education research.

3. African Training and Research Center for Women (ATRCW)
UN/ECA, P. O. Box 3001
Addis Ababa, Ethiopia

ATRCW promotes the advancement of women. Areas of specialization are food, nutrition, employment promotion, etc.

This thesaurus is far from being completed. The librarian should set aside publications which can't be assigned subject headings from the present thesaurus. Subject headings or keywords to index these publications should be decided upon and added to the thesaurus.

SECTION 9

Structure of Bibliographic Database

STRUCTURE OF BIBLIOGRAPHIC DATABASE

A bibliographic database will be established on PACE. PACE is WANG's database program for minicomputers. The bibliographic database should contain the following fields:

- o Accession Number - Each cataloged item in the documentation center will be assigned an accession number. It is estimated the documentation center will eventually contain 10,000 to 15,000 items. Therefore, the accession numbers should begin with 00001.
- o First author
- o Second author
- o Title
- o Publisher
- o Publisher's Address
- o Date of Publication
- o Number of Pages
- o Language
- o Document ID Number - The ISBN number or other unique letters or numbers which would identify the document.
- o Notes - Any significant information which is not included in the other fields.
- o Format - In addition to books, the SANRU Documentation Center will obtain posters, microfiche, video-cassettes, films, etc.
- o Call Number
- o Subject
- o Keywords
- o Rural Health Zone - (if the report or publication pertains to a specific rural health zone in Zaire)
- o Country - (if the publication mentions a specific country or countries)
- o Location - The librarian will be obtaining reports from Peace Corps, UNICEF, and WHO, in addition to SANRU.
- o Entry Date - The date the item was cataloged and entered into the system.

SECTION 10

Cataloging Instructions

CATALOGING INSTRUCTIONS

Accession Number. Assign an accession number to each cataloged item. Begin with 00001 and continue in sequence.

First Author. The first or main author is always the first author listed on the title page. Enter the author's surname, followed by a comma and first name. Include the author's middle name or initials if they are included on the title page.

Example: Werner, David

Example: Feachem, Richard G.

For French names, enter under the prefix if the prefix consists of an article or of a contraction of an article and a preposition.

Example: Le Rouge, Gustave

Example: Du Meril, Pontas

Otherwise, enter under the part of the name following the preposition.

Example: Musset, Alfred de

In cases where an organization is the author, enter the name by which it is predominantly identified.

Example: enter UNICEF, not United Nations Children's Fund

Acronyms may be used if the organization is commonly referred to by its acronym. The librarian should develop an authority list of acceptable acronyms.

Example: enter WHO, not World Health Organization

For government agencies, enter the name of the agency after the government that it is subordinate to.

Example: Malawi. Ministry of Health

United States. Department of Agriculture

Zaire. Ministry of Health

For universities, enter the university name, followed by the department or division that is the author.

Example: University of Kinshasa. School of Public Health

Second author. Follow the same rules for inputting the second author. In cases where a work has more than two authors, include the abbreviation et al. to designate that there were more than two authors.

Example: Bourne, Peter, et al.

Title. Omit the words "A", "An", or "The" if they are at the beginning of a title.

Example: Title = The Shallow Wells of Tanzania
Enter: Shallow Wells of Tanzania

Separate subtitles from title by a colon.

Example: Title = Training of Village Health Workers - Proceedings of a Workshop
Enter: Training of Village Health Workers: Proceedings of a Workshop

Publisher. Include the name of a publisher in the shortest form in which it can be understood and identified.

Example: Enter John Wiley and Sons,
not John Wiley and Sons Incorporated

Publisher Address. If a publisher has more than one address, enter the address that would provide the most rapid response to orders from Zaire.

Example: For WHO publications, enter address of WHO distributor in Kinshasa rather than WHO Geneva or WHO New York.

Date of Publication. Give the date of publication as stated in the edition. If the date of publication is unknown, give the copyright date. If no date of publication, copyright date, etc., can be found, assign an approximate date of publication.

Example: 197-? (For a work published in the 70s)

Number of Pages. Enter the number printed on the last page. For volumes without page numbers, provide an estimate of the approximate number of pages.

Language. Enter the language in which the work is written. For works written in more than one language, include the name of each language. Separate the names by a semicolon.

Example: Language - French; English

Document Identification Number. Enter the ISBN number or other letters or numbers which identify the document and facilitate ordering the document.

Notes. Enter any important information which describes the document. Notes may be made on references, intended audiences, other formats, etc.

Examples: Notes - Contains annotated bibliography
Notes - Intended audience: village health workers
Notes - Also available on 16mm film

Format. Enter the format of the work. Possible formats: Publication; Poster; 16mm film; Flannel Graph; Videocassette; 3/4 in. Videocassette; Slides; Microfiche.

Call Number. Enter the call number that corresponds to the subject heading chosen as the indexing term.

Subject. Enter the subject heading that best describes the document or work. For works describing relationships or causes and effects, assign the subject heading to what is being affected. For example, a work about the effects of diarrhea on infant health would be assigned the subject heading Infant Health. Diarrhea would be added as a keyword.

Always index to the most specific term. A report on breastfeeding should not be assigned Nutrition as a keyword.

For a work that places equal emphasis on two or more subjects, assign as a subject heading the term that is first in the thesaurus. The other subjects are designated as keywords.

Keywords. The bibliographic database should allow enough space for up to seven (7) keywords. This is equal to approximately 175 characters. Separate the keywords by a semicolon.

Example: Keywords - Midwives; Fertility Control; Birth Spacing; Family Planning Administration

Rural Health Zone. Enter the name of the health zone if applicable.

Country. Enter the name of the country or countries described in the work. Separate the country names by a semicolon if more than one country are described.

Example: Country - Botswana; Cameroon; Zaire

Location. Enter all known locations of a document. In addition to SANRU, possible locations are Peace Corps, WHO, UNICEF, etc. Separate the location names by a semicolon.

Example: Location - SANRU; Peace Corps

Entry Date. Enter the date the item was cataloged and entered into the system. Enter by day, month, year.

Example: Entry Date - 23/08/86

Pinwheel rolodex cards have been purchased for printing indexes to the collection. These cards measure 3 inches x 5 inches. These may not be feasible to use if PACE does not allow a great deal of flexibility in formatting the bibliographic output. If it is not feasible to use rolodex cards, the documentation center can use print-outs of the bibliographic database. Regardless of whether rolodex cards or printer paper is used, the documentation center should maintain the following indexes to the collection:

- a) Author
- b) Title
- c) Subject (Subject Headings and Keywords)
- d) Geographic (Country and Rural Health Zone)

The author index should contain the following information for each entry:
a) Author, b) Title, c) Publisher, d) Publisher Address, e) Date of Publication, f) Number of Pages, g) Language, h) Document ID Number, i) Notes, j) Format, k) Call Number, l) Accession Number, m) Subject and Keywords, n) Rural Health Zone or Country, and o) Location.

The title index should contain the following information for each entry:
a) Title, b) Author, c) Publisher, d) Publisher Address, e) Date of Publication, f) Number of Pages, g) Language, h) Document ID Number, i) Notes, j) Format, k) Call Number, l) Accession Number, m) Subject and Keywords, n) Rural Health Zone or Country, and o) Location.

The subject index should contain the following information for each entry:
a) Subject Heading and Keywords, b) Author, c) Title, d) Publisher, e) Publisher Address, f) Date of Publication, g) Number of Pages, h) Language, i) Document ID Number, j) Notes, k) Format, l) Call Number, m) Accession Number, n) Rural Health Zone or Country, and o) Location.
