

USAID
FROM THE AMERICAN PEOPLE

2010 ANNUAL AWARDS CEREMONY

H O N O R I N G S E R V I C E

MESSAGE FROM THE ADMINISTRATOR

This year, I witnessed what has only happened once before in this country's history: a sitting American President articulating a clear and bold new vision for international development efforts in the world.

In front of the General Assembly of the United Nations, President Obama delivered a comprehensive development strategy, elevating its importance to the level of diplomacy or defense. The last time that occurred was when President Kennedy sent a comprehensive strategic request to Congress that spurred the creation of USAID nearly fifty years ago.

The President's message, echoed by the Secretary of State and throughout the halls of our government, is a strong endorsement of our work: the discipline of development. Over the last year, the men and women of USAID have demonstrated the best tenants of that discipline, embodying the true spirit of development entrepreneurship.

They have articulated clear visions and strategies for their work, ensuring their efforts lead to lasting growth. They have inspired others and partnered effectively, emphasizing the importance of diversity. They have taken smart, informed risks, and been willing to question the status quo. And above all, they have focused on delivering meaningful, sustainable results.

This year, USAID has continued the important work of advancing economic prosperity and good governance abroad, while strengthening national security and developing future markets for our citizens here at home. We have been successful in that mission due the great work of individuals throughout this agency. I consider it a great privilege to honor their tireless dedication and sacrifice, and I offer my deepest congratulations and gratitude to our 2010 award recipients.
