OVERVIEW

USAID WORKS TO STRENGTHEN PARTNERSHIPS WITH PRIVATE VOLUNTARY ORGANIZATIONS

INTRODUCTION

This year marks the 50th anniversary for the U.S. Agency for International Development, which was born out of a spirit of progress and innovation and is a reflection of America's values, character, and fundamental belief in doing the right thing. In 1961, President John F. Kennedy—recognizing the need to unite foreign aid and development activities in a single agency to maximize expertise—signed the legislation that created USAID. Since that time, USAID has been a quiet force for progress, fostering a more peaceful and secure world.

Last September, while announcing our country's Global Development Policy, President Barack Obama said, "The past half century has witnessed more gains in human development than at any time in history. Around the world, hundreds of millions of people have been lifted from extreme poverty." Continuing the thought, however, the President said, "Yet, we must also face the fact that progress...has not come nearly fast enough."

In response, USAID has launched a series of reforms called USAID Forward, developed in conjunction with the Department of State's Quadrennial Diplomacy and Development Review, the first-ever review of our country's development and diplomacy operations. The Review provides a blueprint that is crucial to improving America's use of civilian power.

Speaking at the Center for Global Development in January, USAID Administrator Dr. Rajiv Shah said, "We've embarked on this effort to transform how development is delivered because development is not and cannot be a sideshow. As the President and the Secretaries of State, Treasury, and Defense have all made abundantly clear, development is as critical to our economic prospects and our national security as diplomacy and defense."

USAID Forward seeks to remake USAID, in Dr. Shah's words, into "a modern development enterprise." Central to these reforms is a focus on implementation and procurement, which will improve how USAID does business—contracting with and providing grants to more and varied local partners to facilitate true partnerships and create the conditions where aid is no longer necessary.

The Private and Voluntary Cooperation Division in the Office of Development Partners (ODP/PVC) has continued its efforts to strengthen partnerships with all types of private voluntary organizations (PVOs), large and small, domestic and international, to support USAID's evolving mission. As we look back at the accomplishments of the Agency over the past 50 years, we recognize the important contributions of our partners in the PVO community.

USAID registers PVOs that wish to compete for certain types of assistance funding available from the Agency, such as grants and cooperative agreements, as only registered PVOs are eligible to compete for development assistance grants and cooperative agreements. The purpose of the PVO registration is to—

- Identify PVOs that engage in, or intend to engage in, voluntary foreign aid operations
- Determine whether PVOs meet certain general operating guidelines and accountability standards
- Certify that PVOs are eligible to apply for USAID assistance

ODP/PVC is committed to growing the Registry of U.S. and international PVOs and has made significant strides in streamlining the online registration system, which was put into operation in 2008 and replaced the previous paper-based procedure. ODP/PVC has continued to fine-tune the online system to enhance the submission experience and ensure the accuracy of the data collected. ODP/PVC welcomes any feedback or suggestions for enhancing the submission process.

2011 VOLAG REPORT

The Report of Voluntary Agencies Engaged in Overseas Relief and Development (VolAg Report) provides a snapshot of the work of the U.S. and international PVOs that are registered with USAID. As defined by USAID, a PVO is a tax-exempt, nonprofit organization that solicits and receives cash contributions from the general public and conducts, or anticipates conducting, international program activities that are consistent with U.S. foreign policy objectives. (See 22CFR203.2 for a complete definition.) PVOs register with USAID to establish and maintain eligibility to compete for grants and cooperative agreements. Information about registration can be found at www.usaid.gov | Search: PVO Registration.

The 2011 VolAg Report includes a brief description and a summary of financial activities for the 580 U.S. PVOs, 90 international PVOs, and 6 U.S. Cooperative Development Organizations (CDOs) registered with USAID as of May 31, 2011. The information contained in this report is also available through the online PVO Registry, a searchable database that is updated daily, on the USAID Web site at www.usaid.gov | Search: PVO Registry.

PARTNERSHIP DEVELOPMENT

Partnerships are a central component of USAID's 21st century business model for international development and the Agency's ongoing initiatives to increase its reach and effectiveness in meeting development objectives. ODP/PVC leads the Agency's partnership building with PVOs, local nongovernmental organizations (NGOs), and cooperatives. In this role, ODP/PVC—

- serves as an institutional bridge between the Agency and the PVO, NGO, and cooperative communities;
- provides support and services to Agency staff and partners that are developing strategic partnerships involving NGOs, PVOs, or cooperatives;
- informs Agency efforts to develop innovative, effective programs that strengthen PVOs, NGOs, and cooperatives in USAID partner countries; and
- provides leadership for the Agency's outreach to the PVO, NGO, and cooperative communities as well as for policy formulation on issues of concern to the PVO, NGO, and cooperative communities.

Within this context, ODP/PVC manages the registration of U.S. PVOs and promotes and facilitates the exchange of information pertaining to U.S. and international PVOs within the Agency. It also manages Agency programs that contribute to stronger partnerships with local NGOs and cooperatives. Specifically, ODP/PVC coordinates the Development Grants Program (DGP), a small competitive grants program initiated in 2008 that provides opportunities for nascent U.S. PVOs and local NGOs that have limited experience working directly with USAID. The DGP's organizational and technical strengthening components assist grantees to improve their implementation planning and management, monitoring and evaluation, and other organizational systems so critical to effective service delivery and organizational sustainability.

With the U.S. Peace Corps, ODP/PVC oversees the Small Project Assistance (SPA) Interagency Agreement that enables collaboration between USAID Missions and Peace Corps volunteers in the field. PVC also manages the Cooperative Development Program, which encourages the development of cooperatives and cooperative management principles in USAID's overseas programs. The Division is also responsible for the management of the Limited Excess Property Program (LEPP), which coordinates access to U.S. Government excess property for use by PVOs in support of their overseas programs.

LEVERAGING PRIVATE RESOURCES FOR DEVELOPMENT

PVOs and local NGOs help USAID support local capacities to address local needs, bringing additional resources to bear and facilitating sustainable development worldwide. By enlisting the PVO community's expertise and program delivery capacities, USAID is better able to direct humanitarian relief and development assistance to areas of need. As the data presented in this report indicate, the privately generated resources that PVOs spend on international development activities far exceed the resources they receive from USAID or the U.S. Government.

During fiscal year 2009, U.S. PVOs registered with USAID received $18.7 billion in support from non-U.S. Government and private sources, over six times the $3.1 billion that USAID channeled to USAID-registered PVOs. Other U.S. Government agencies and international organizations provided an additional $3.6 billion, bringing the total private and public support and revenue for registered U.S. PVOs to $25.4 billion.

U.S. PVOs received
$18.7 billion in support from U.S. citizens and private sources, over six times the $3.1 billion from USAID.

USAID also provided more than $196 million to registered international PVOs in 2009, augmenting their $3.1 billion in direct spending on international relief and development activities. Meanwhile, U.S. CDOs received $260 million from USAID during 2009, as well as $302 million from other sources, to support their efforts to build and strengthen cooperative organizations overseas.

DOING BUSINESS WITH USAID

To implement its worldwide humanitarian and development activities, USAID uses various acquisition and assistance instruments, including contracts, grants, cooperative agreements, and purchase orders. USAID negotiates and initiates these instruments to obtain the commodities and technical assistance the Agency requires to achieve its objectives. Organizations seeking to work with USAID will find useful policy and business information at the following Web sites:

www.usaid.gov | Search: ADS

The Automated Directives System outlines USAID's policies and procedures. (See Chapter 303 - Grants and Cooperative Agreements.)

www.usaid.gov | Search: AAPDs

Acquisition and Assistance Policy Directives provide information about USAID's cost-sharing policy.

www.usaid.gov | Search: Forecast

Upcoming procurement opportunities with USAID's offices in Washington and overseas.

www.usaid.gov | Search: PVC

Information about the Private and Voluntary Cooperation Division, which manages the Agency's registration policy and the PVO registration process, as well as grant programs.

Searchable database of PVOs currently registered with USAID.

www.usaid.gov | Search: PVO Registration

Information about USAID's PVO registration process, including the Conditions of Registration and other materials that can assist with online registration.

The VolAg Report is the culmination of the annual effort by the Office of Development Partners' Private and Voluntary Cooperation Division staff to collect, validate, and disseminate a clear, factual report that helps inform the Congress, Agency staff, partner organizations, and the general public about the activities of the PVO community. We hope you find it a useful resource.

Collaborates with hundreds of nongovernmental organizations to ship humanitarian aid free of charge or at cost through the commercial sector. It is the twin program to Admiral Denton's "Denton Amendment," operated by USAID. The Admiral Jeremiah Denton Foundation's TRANSFORM program has shipped thousands of tons of humanitarian aid to 18 countries and is especially proficient at outfitting schools. The foundation combats poverty by organizing educational opportunities and providing a sustainable educational system through in-kind donations. Its education and health care efforts have reduced the likelihood of the poor being drafted by terrorist movements or gangs. In addition to humanitarian and development aid, the foundation provides disaster mitigation services.

ADVENTIST DEVELOPMENT AND RELIEF AGENCY INTERNATIONAL, INC.

ADRA

Mr. Rudi Maier, President

12501 Old Columbia Pike

Conducts religious, charitable, scientific, literary, and educational programs, focusing on sustainable development to assist impoverished Africans. TAVCDC's programs in Uganda serve as a model for its programs in other countries. The Health Project prevents and treats HIV/AIDS, while its medical center provides health care and trains village clinicians. TAVCDC's Literary Project publishes materials that promote literacy in village schools. The Education Project offers an American education model, skills training, and educational programs to village schools. American farmers helped start TAVCDC's Hunger Project. TAVCDC works with other local African nongovernmental organizations (NGOs), U.S. humanitarian organizations, international NGOs, hospitals, corporations, governmental agencies, foundations, and individual volunteers.

AFRICAN WILDLIFE FOUNDATION

AWF

Dr. Patrick Bergin, CEO

1400 16th Street NW, Suite 120

Uses aircraft to fly relief workers and supplies to help the victims of disasters and suffering people in some of the most desperate situations around the world. ASI flies where other air carriers cannot—or will not—fly. ASI provides safe, reliable, and cost-effective air transportation to fellow humanitarian relief and development agencies working primarily in remote, transportation-deficient regions of the world. ASI's pilots fly small yet agile single- and twin-engine airplanes, carrying relief workers into stricken areas of Africa and Asia. ASI's operations impart a multiplier effect on donor dollars, as the organizations receiving transport share the costs. These organizations are then able to concentrate on their areas of expertise, leaving the logistics to the experts at ASI.

Assists refugees, the economically challenged, and the underserved to become self-sufficient, productive members of their communities. AAA works to promote human rights protection, humanitarian assistance access, health services, and environmental conservation. AAA's Uganda field offices provide humanitarian assistance to communities affected by years of fighting between government and rebel military groups. Children are often the victims of abduction and forced service in rebel military groups. AAA provides play therapy for these children as a way of helping them deal with the traumatic experiences they have endured. Other programs include HIV/AIDS prevention, adult literacy, and programs designed to develop sustainable local economic activity.

Prevents and relieves sickness and injury and enhances the health and well-being of people of all races and creeds. Established in 1957 by a group of Americans, The American Society of The Order of St. John became a Priory of The Order of St. John of Jerusalem (The Order) in 1996. The Order is an international charity operating in 42 countries. The Order's operating arms are the St. John of Jerusalem Eye Hospital in East Jerusalem (established in 1882) and the St. John Ambulance, which operates in many countries. The primary mission of The American Society of The Order of St. John is to help the St. John of Jerusalem Eye Hospital. To this end, the organization raises funds and solicits in-kind goods to be transmitted to the hospital. Since its inception, the organization has raised millions of dollars for the hospital and has provided it with a substantial supply of medical supplies, equipment, and volunteer ophthalmologists.

Works to give a hand up, not a hand out, to people who need clean water. AC licenses its inexpensive water purification technology to local entrepreneurs so they can set up water purification businesses. The organization trains licensees to manufacture, sell, and maintain the purification systems. AC systems meet World Health Organization standards, have no moving parts, require no power for operation, and are made with materials that can be acquired locally. A simple system can provide potable water for a family of five and will last for 10 years. The organization seeks to engage women as business owners, and supports new businesses with construction manuals, health and hygiene curriculums, and simple accounting and marketing ideas. AC distributes its water purification systems through a core staff, churches and mission groups, medical personnel, and organizations such as the Friends of the Peace Corp, Men of Mission, and Habitat for Humanity.

Advances the lives of children and adults with physical disabilities through sport. BlazeSports America's activities support healthy lifestyles, the prevention of chronic illness and secondary medical conditions, and the promotion of human rights for persons with disabilities. The organization is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit and the direct legacy of the 1996 Atlanta Paralympic Games. Throughout the world, BlazeSports implements sport development projects that increase access to community-based rehabilitation interventions and foster the full inclusion in society of persons with physical disabilities. Activities include paralympic sport, therapeutic recreation, freeform play, and pre-vocational initiatives. The rituals of sport engage more people in shared experience than any other institution or cultural activity today, and BlazeSports America uses the high visibility and attraction of sport to promote human rights and full inclusion. By integrating sport and play with non-sport components, BlazeSports empowers persons with disabilities and their networks to advocate for and gain access to sport, education, employment, and other important life activities.

Nurtures historic and vital partnerships with Moravian churches in Alaska, Costa Rica, the Eastern Caribbean, Guyana, Honduras, Labrador, Nicaragua, and Tanzania. BWM supports cross-cultural outreach by Moravian partners among the Garifuna people of Honduras, the Siberian Yup'ik people of Chukotka in Alaska, and the Sukuma people of Tanzania. The organization also manages Hurricane Katrina relief work for the Moravian Church, as well as disaster relief efforts in the Caribbean region. BWM collaborates with churches in western Tanzania and Central America to address HIV/AIDS issues. An overseas mission and support agency of the Moravian Church in America, BWM continues the work that began in 1745 by the Society for Propagating the Gospel, North America's oldest Protestant mission society.

Delivers donated textbooks and library books to schools, libraries, and universities across Africa. Since its founding, BFA has delivered more than 24 million books to 45 African countries. BFA's mission is to "end the African book famine." BFA collects, sorts, and stores new and previously owned books at its warehouses in St. Paul, Minnesota, and Atlanta, Georgia, shipping them to Africa in 40-foot seaborne containers, each holding approximately 18,000 to 22,000 books. Registered government and nongovernmental organization members distribute the books in recipient countries. All books are donated and recipients select their books by category and age level. Individual sponsors and organizations pay shipping costs. Prospective partners are encouraged to call or e-mail to secure a price quote on a container delivery to any country in Africa.

Partners with grassroots organizations to deliver effective development aid in a number of countries across sub-Saharan Africa. BWA's efforts focus on health care, education, orphan care, and vocational training, and the organization seeks to bring these services to Africans who would not otherwise have access to them. BWA aims for decentralized decision making, so that organizations with the greatest sense of the needs of the local population have the ability to deliver aid to meet those needs. This goal, however, is not pursued at the expense of overall accountability. BWA also seeks to improve the long-term financial viability of its service-delivery partners, with the goal of eventually phasing out BWA support.

Seeks to ensure that every child has a chance to develop properly in mind, body, and character. Children International recognizes the full potential residing in children and young people who are overlooked by society because of their socioeconomic circumstances. Children as young as 3 years can enter Children International's program, and the organization's goal is to keep them in the program until they graduate at age 19. Children receive free medical care, regular dental exams, and nutritional support. The organization also provides school supplies, uniforms, and other educational support. Finally, the organization's youth program strives to impart the values, life skills, and leadership abilities that will help graduates break the grip of poverty and enter adult life as responsible, productive, self-reliant citizens.

Improves child nutrition and health in Leogane, Haiti. Malnutrition causes 60 percent of child deaths in Haiti and permanently impairs 42 percent of surviving children. CNP Haiti has been active in all areas of child health since 2001. CNP Haiti's community-based nutrition program is based on the Positive Deviance/Hearth model. Trained community monitors teach caregivers to use available resources to rehabilitate their malnourished children. Caregivers bring their malnourished children to the homes of volunteer mothers for two weeks to learn from the monitors and practice improved meal preparation, feeding, and health care behaviors. Staff members follow the progress of children who participate in the program for six months, and 94 percent of these children are rehabilitated. CNP Haiti works with Hôpital Sainte Croix in Leogane to provide care for severely malnourished children and to support immunization and basic health care services.

Helps ensure that children affected by HIV/AIDS have the opportunity to live their lives in fullness and dignity. The Children's Place Association helps families meet their children's physical, psychological, and cognitive developmental needs. This approach is based on the philosophy that child development occurs optimally in the presence of loving and nurturing adults. The Children's Place Association launched the Northern Haiti Family Support Project in January 2008. The project is assisting 442 HIV/AIDS-affected children in Gonaives, Limonade, L'Esther, and Cap Haitien. The organization also provides technical assistance to local partners in Guyana and Botswana.

Empowers societies to responsibly and sustainably care for nature for the well-being of humanity. CI's scientists, field staff, and policy experts are measuring the contribution of healthy ecosystems to human well-being; assessing the implications of development decisions; putting cutting-edge, rigorously tested information in the hands of decision makers and the public; and demonstrating through field models how economic opportunity and the stewardship of natural resources can leverage change at an international scale. CI focuses both marine and land-based efforts on the following: working to secure a stable global climate; understanding and protecting the sources and flows of fresh water; ensuring nature's ability to provide food for human needs; minimizing environmental pressures on human health; valuing the role of nature in human cultures; and safeguarding the ability of species and biodiversity to sustain healthy ecosystems and the benefits nature provides.

Assists rural Nicaraguan communities to improve their living standards through sustainable development in clean water, sanitation, reforestation, and health education. More than two-thirds of Nicaragua's rural communities lack access to clean drinking water. Globally, 1.8 million children die annually because of illnesses linked to consumption of polluted water. Women and girls shoulder the burden of collecting water for household needs, spending hours daily carrying 40-pound buckets of water for miles. Access to clean drinking water dramatically improves family living standards, reducing disease and child mortality, freeing girls' and women's time, and improving school attendance and performance.

Fights pediatric AIDS worldwide. EGPAF's innovative research programs, collaborative training initiatives, advocacy efforts, and rapidly expanding international prevention and treatment programs are bringing dramatic changes to the lives of children. The foundation has expanded its reach and is working across the world to reduce the rate of new infant infections and provide access to care and treatment for children and families. With its International Family AIDS Initiatives, EGPAF brings counseling, testing, and low-cost drug interventions to women who need it, advancing one of the greatest success stories in the battle against HIV: prevention of mother-to-child transmission. EGPAF has also moved to help fill the gap in access to care and treatment, including antiretroviral treatment.

Alleviates hunger in some of the world's poorest communities by providing the resources necessary to empower people to feed themselves. FRB does not ship grain or food overseas; instead, the organization offers people dignity by giving them a hand up instead of a handout, thus breaking the cycle of dependency. As a Christian, nongovernmental, humanitarian organization, FRB is committed to providing sustainable food security in the developing world through small-scale agricultural interventions. Programs focus on education and the introduction of no-till alternatives as well as conservation, improved seeds and livestock, market access, water reclamation, food storage, and other techniques that allow people to feed their families, send their children to school, and improve the quality of life at home and in their communities. The organization's strategic goal is to engage the grassroots U.S. agricultural community in efforts to solve the problem of hunger worldwide.

Provides financial services to the world's lowest-income entrepreneurs so they can create their own jobs, build assets, and improve their standard of living. FINCA operates a network of programs in 21 countries in Africa, Eurasia, Latin America, and the Greater Middle East and is credited with developing the village banking methodology of microcredit delivery. This approach has transformed the lives of hundreds of thousands of the world's financially disenfranchised people, providing them with access to loans that improve quality of life, communities, and local economies. In the past few years, FINCA has transformed into an organization with a unique business model, leveraging donations with investments to maximize the capital available for loans. FINCA clients receive three essential services: (1) self-employment loans as low as $50; (2) a savings plan to create their own working capital; and (3) group support for personal and community empowerment.

Works side by side with local activists in Africa, Asia, Europe, and Latin America to promote and protect the rights of marginalized populations. Through broad-based technical assistance and training, Global Rights strengthens partners to document and expose human rights abuses, conduct community outreach and mobilization, advocate for legal and policy reform, and provide legal and paralegal services. Founded in 1978, Global Rights is an international human rights capacity-building organization that has worked in scores of countries to help local leaders and organizations address human rights abuses and lift those struggles out of isolation and onto the international stage, where regional and global institutions develop and enforce human rights standards. At the core of Global Rights' programming is a deep commitment to increase access to justice for poor and marginalized groups, promote women's rights, and advance racial and ethnic equality.

Facilitates community-based human and economic development. Global Volunteers' strategic approach enables American volunteers to work at the invitation of local host organizations, under the direction of local leaders, and hand-in-hand with local people on locally defined development goals. The organization engages short-term volunteers in a wide range of activities, including teaching at elementary to university levels; constructing, repairing, and maintaining schools and community buildings; providing child care to orphaned, disabled, and abandoned children; and offering public health education and patient care. An important part of Global Volunteers' work is to increase awareness among Americans of the basic principles of community-driven development.

Creates safe water supplies and sanitation and hygiene-related facilities for rural villages and schools in developing countries. Global Water believes the lack of safe drinking water and sanitation facilities is the root cause of hunger, disease, and poverty throughout the developing world. The organization's water projects have an immediate and life-changing impact, particularly for women and children who, in rural areas of developing countries, have the primary responsibility for gathering water for the family every day of their lives. Successful projects leverage water and sanitation activities to foster sustainable socioeconomic development in the communities where the organization works.

Works with communities in Haiti to create clean water systems, build public schools, and promote microlending and other community development projects that the communities initiate, help build, and maintain after they are completed. Haiti Outreach's vision is "For Haiti to Become a Developed Country"; its mission is "To collaborate with the people of Haiti to build and maintain community-initiated projects that advance their development." Programs are based on a model of grassroots community participation and community ownership. It is a model of empowerment that inspires people to create and maintain the projects that help to develop their communities. Haiti Outreach brings Haitians together at the local level, teaching and empowering them to take ownership of their community's infrastructure. Haiti Outreach also provides materials that the communities do not have the means to purchase, as well as technical skills and machinery to help facilitate project completion.

Reduces water-related illness and death in developing countries by building self-sustaining projects that make safe drinking water accessible to the poor and empowers local churches to bring physical, social, and spiritual healing to their communities. The communities targeted by HWI are often overlooked for aid because they have municipal water systems in place. Unfortunately, many of these systems deliver contaminated water, and commercially bottled water is a luxury the poor cannot afford. Attributes of HWI's water programs include the following: (1) projects are financially self-sustaining through water sales; (2) the water is tested monthly to guarantee purity; (3) bottle-rinsing equipment ensures that clean water doesn't go into dirty containers; (4) accountability systems allow donors to monitor the ongoing performance of their projects; and (5) revenues help fund additional community service projects.

Works with people around the world to end hunger and poverty and care for the environment. Since its founding in 1944, HPI has helped more than 12.5 million people gain self-reliance. Project participants are given animals and plants that suit their needs, such as cows, goats, sheep, llamas, water buffaloes, bees, and tree seedlings. Participants also receive training in sustainable agriculture and livestock management. Each recipient "passes on the gift" of animal offspring, seeds, skills, or other resources to neighbors. Projects emphasize self-reliance, education, gender equity, peace, agroecology, and animal well-being. In addition, HPI has initiatives that focus on HIV/AIDS, microenterprise, and social orphans.

Provides wheelchairs and other mobility aids to the disabled poor in developing countries. Hope Haven's innovative, volunteer-intensive, cost-effective program collects discarded wheelchairs and refurbishes and delivers them to poor people in 106 countries.

Supplying wheelchairs is a critical first step to empowering some of the world's most dependent citizens, as mobility provides access to education, job training, and employment. Hope Haven also manufactures new pediatric wheelchairs (in Antigua, Guatemala; and Ireton, Iowa) for severely disabled children, since the current supply of children's wheelchairs doesn't meet the overwhelming need. The organization also spearheads a global network of individuals, relief agencies, and government leaders committed to the needs of the estimated 65 million disabled people worldwide. Hope Haven's international activities build on the organization's 46-year history of helping people with disabilities in Iowa and Minnesota unleash their potential.

Forges innovative public-private partnerships to find creative solutions to difficult humanitarian problems.

HDI seeks to improve U.S.-U.N. relations, support mine action programs, and help alleviate hunger worldwide. The organization pioneered a new model for funding mine action by monetizing surplus U.S. food commodities and applying the proceeds toward the mutually reinforcing goals of demining and agricultural development. In Angola, HDI cleared landmines from strategic roadways, providing market access to nearly 20,000 farmers. In Laos, HDI removes unexploded bombs from school areas and provides a daily nutritious snack to more than 17,000 children. And on Sri Lanka's Jaffna Peninsula, HDI's landmine removal program is coupled with instruction on modern farming and dairy development techniques, which has led to the complete revitalization of the dairy industry in Jaffna.

Brings relief to poor, sick, and suffering people by providing food, medicine, and other assistance in the United States and throughout the world. IA, a faith-based organization, addresses these needs by improving the capacity of health care organizations and by responding to crises. IA's Medical Equipment Services Program supplies new and refurbished medical equipment, operating manuals, and technical field support to health care providers in developing nations. The organization's Lab-in-a-Suitcase Program provides health care operations in remote areas with portable medical equipment that can perform 80 percent of standard diagnostic tests. IA also supports first response organizations. The organization facilitates the delivery of health products, such as medicine, nutritional supplements, and personal care items, from socially responsible corporate donors to humanitarian organizations; replenishes stocks of medical equipment and supplies; and assists with rebuilding efforts.

Promotes quality journalism worldwide in the belief that independent, vigorous media are crucial in improving the human condition. ICFJ's work around the world—i.e., providing journalistic, media management, and technical expertise as well as information and support services—is critical to the development of effective, independent media organizations that are ethically grounded and financially stable. ICFJ also assists U.S. media organizations in providing better coverage of international issues that are too often ignored, from the global economy to immigration, and in fostering better connections among U.S. journalists and their counterparts abroad. Training for ethnic and non-English-language reporters in the United States has become a strong focus for ICFJ, given the growing influence of these journalists. ICFJ offers fellowships, facilitates exchanges, provides a range of consulting services, and has conducted training programs for some 50,000 journalists in 176 countries.

FAX: (303) 232-8346
EMAIL: ide@ideorg.org
WEB: www.ideorg.org

Improves the lives of the rural poor in developing nations through agricultural and economic development. IDE's guiding principle is that the rural poor are natural entrepreneurs who, if given the opportunity, will invest their limited resources to ensure their families' food supply and generate income. IDE empowers rural farmers to pull themselves out of poverty by making available quality inputs, training, affordable technologies, capital, and access to markets. Simple, low-cost water technologies increase income generation by allowing farmers to cultivate high-value, labor-intensive crops. These technologies have enabled families to become more efficient agricultural producers, generally doubling their net annual income in the first year. IDE's efforts have helped some 17 million people escape poverty.

INTERNATIONAL EXECUTIVE SERVICE CORPS IESC

Alleviates human suffering by deploying volunteer specialists and delivering medicines and supplies in support of its four core activities: domestic and international disaster relief, medical training, surgical outreach, and health promotion and disease prevention. IRT medical relief teams augment local health care professionals during natural disasters and other crises. Medical training teams train local instructors in emergency medicine and obstetrical and neonatal care. IRT surgical teams perform surgery in remote, impoverished areas where specialists do not practice. IRT construction teams repair homes damaged by natural disasters and build clean water and sanitation facilities. Rather than establish field offices, IRT works in partnership with local nongovernmental organizations to build their capacities. IRT has provided assistance to more than 59 countries during its 23-year history.

Supports the achievement of the Millennium Development Goals to halve extreme poverty in Africa by 2015. The Millennium Promise Alliance works with impoverished communities, national and local governments, and partner organizations to implement high-impact programs aimed at transforming lives on the continent and engaging donor nations, corporations, and the general public in the effort. Millennium Promise's work is premised on the belief that, for the first time in history, our generation has the opportunity to end extreme poverty, hunger, and disease. Millennium Promise's flagship initiative, the Millennium Villages, takes a comprehensive approach to addressing extreme poverty. The Millennium Villages initiative simultaneously addresses the issues of hunger, disease, inadequate education, lack of safe drinking water, and absence of essential infrastructure to assist communities on their way to self-sustainable development.

Empowers poor communities worldwide to solve their most urgent problems and increase their level of self-sufficiency. Outreach International selects, trains, and supports indigenous community organizers to facilitate this process throughout Asia, Africa, and the Caribbean and the Americas. Community residents become the main actors in every phase of development, from identifying needs and priorities to planning, implementing, and evaluating solutions. Communities address a variety of issues, including health, education, gender equity, and livelihood. A community organizer works in a village for three to five years or until the community develops the skills and confidence necessary to sustain the process. The organization likewise supports programs that enable literacy and child survival. More than 450 teachers in the developing world participate. Outreach International also provides consultancy and field training to other institutions.

Provides a preferential health care option for the poor. By establishing long-term relationships with sister organizations based in settings of poverty, PIH strives to achieve two overarching goals: bring the benefits of modern medical science to those most in need of them and serve as an antidote to despair. PIH draws on the resources of the world's leading medical and academic institutions and on the lived experience of the world's poorest and sickest communities. PIH's mission is both medical and moral; it is based on solidarity rather than charity alone. When the organization's patients are ill and have no access to care, PIH's team of health professionals, scholars, and activists will do whatever it takes to make them well.

Works with families and partnership institutions to improve the quality of life and expand opportunities for children who have been affected by social, economic, or cultural discrimination. The organization applies the values of its Nobel Prize- and Pulitzer Prize-winning founder, Pearl S. Buck, and promotes tolerance, diversity, and intercultural understanding. PSBI serves children who are ethnic minorities, disabled, stateless, displaced, and orphans. Programs address the needs of these children for self-identity and self-worth, health care, education, and livelihood. Recent PSBI activities have reached thousands of program participants in China, Korea, the Philippines, Taiwan, Thailand, and Vietnam.

Designs, produces, and distributes pediatric wheelchairs and other rehabilitation devices for disabled children in developing countries. These wheelchairs are made available at little or no cost to disabled children because of charitable contributions. It is estimated that 20 million people in developing countries require wheelchairs for mobility. Approximately 6.7 million of these people are children. Few children have a wheelchair, and even fewer have one that is fit to their needs. ROC Wheels develops wheelchairs for children up to age 15 regardless of their level of disability. The organization realizes that providing the right wheelchair will help each person gain his or her independence, interact with peers, and become a more active member of the community. The organization's ultimate goal is to help people help themselves.

Promotes social, economic, and rural development in Lebanon and contributes to building a responsible civil society that strengthens national unity and promotes democratic values and social justice. RMF was created in Lebanon in 1990 by Nayla Moawad, widow of the late president of Lebanon, Réne Moawad, and established in the United States in 1993 as a 501(c)(3). RMF responds to the most crucial social problems that face Lebanon today. The organization provides medical assistance to the poor through its three clinics and promotes development through the Agricultural Center of the North, which creates small cottage industries and provides farmers with technical and mechanical support. RMF's educational activities target children and youth and are delivered through individual projects or RMF-established centers. A primary aim of this programming is to establish equal access to basic education for the disadvantaged.

Helps young people from regions of conflict develop the leadership skills and interpersonal networks necessary to advance reconciliation and coexistence. Founded in 1993 by award-winning author and journalist John Wallach, SOP was established on the belief that, if given the opportunity, youth will choose coexistence over conflict and hope over fear. SOP seeks to humanize the conflict, provide conflict resolution and leadership training, facilitate open dialogue, and create a network of young leaders who will become a core constituency for peace. Every summer, SOP brings together young people—American, Israeli, Palestinian, Egyptian, Jordanian, Indian, Pakistani, and Afghan—with demonstrated leadership potential to its International Camp in Maine, with the goal of dispelling fear, hatred, and misunderstanding and fostering a new generation of leadership. Camp activities are followed up with year-round programming overseas, including youth conferences, regional workshops, educational and professional opportunities, and an adult educator program.

Helps people improve their lives. A nonprofit people-to-people movement, TFL began helping people in developing countries plant and care for fruit trees in 1984. The trees protect the environment and provide a low-cost, self-renewing source of nutrition, and TFL's philosophy has spurred a global movement for sharing knowledge, skills, and resources. Today, the organization works with people on projects that strike at the root causes of poverty, malnutrition, and disease. Since its inception, TFL has motivated more than 3 million people in several countries to address needs in their communities, not only by planting trees but also by digging water wells, building fuel-efficient stoves, promoting scientific studies of beneficial plants, and establishing schools and children's libraries.

Improves education in Guatemala through its support of the University of the Valley of Guatemala (UVG). UVG is an educational system comprising elementary and secondary schools, a technical college, and the university. UVG's programs emphasize teacher education, science and technology, and agriculture. The main campus is in Guatemala City; a second is in the South Coast agricultural area; and the third is in the highlands at a former military base that has been transformed into an educational and community center. UVG offers the only university-level bilingual Spanish-Mayan program for elementary teachers in Guatemala. Through its University for All program, UVG reaches thousands of indigenous people with training and educational workshops. UVG students have the education and training needed to improve the economy and the stability of civil society in Latin America.

Provides disaster response assistance and support in partnership with other agencies. Case management to help disaster survivors recover from their losses is the hallmark of UMCOR's disaster response program. UMCOR responds to natural or civil disasters that create interruptions of such magnitude that they overwhelm a community's ability to recover on its own. UMCOR provides direct transitional development and relief assistance by working collaboratively with local communities to assist them in restoring social stability, revitalizing community structures, and empowering affected populations to retake control of their lives. UMCOR provides short- and long-term solutions to bring hope to hungry people and empower them to self-sufficiency. The organization uses a multipronged approach to combating hunger and poverty, including advocacy, collaboration with other organizations, and a sustainable-agriculture and development program.

Mobilizes communities to care for their most vulnerable members: orphans and widows. Using its Empowerment-Change Model, VCI works with communities to mobilize and advance sustainable change in remote African villages. The four-stage self-reliance program promotes cost effectiveness, community involvement and ownership, indigenous leadership and reliance on local resources, and the involvement of diverse religious groups and leaders. The program is run primarily by volunteers, invests significant human and financial resources in training and mentoring, and focuses on outcomes rather than quantity of services provided. Village Care International seeks to mobilize communities around the idea that all children, particularly orphans and vulnerable children, should be safe, healthy, living in loving homes, succeeding in school, and respected in their communities.

EMAIL: general@womenforwomen.org
WEB: www.womenforwomen.org

Provides women survivors of war and conflict with the tools and resources to move from crisis and poverty to stability and self-sufficiency, thereby promoting viable civil societies. WfWI serves a critical, global need for humanitarian and development services in conflict and post-conflict countries by bridging the gap between emergency assistance and long-term reconstruction. WfWI uses a multiphase program that incorporates financial and emotional support, rights awareness and life-skills education, vocational and business skills training, and income generation assistance. Since 1993, WfWI has served more than 248,400 women and benefited another 1.3 million family and community members. The organization has distributed $84 million in direct aid and loans to help women meet their basic needs and launch small businesses. WfWI currently operates in Afghanistan, Bosnia and Herzegovina, the Democratic Republic of the Congo, Iraq, Kosovo, Nigeria, Rwanda, and Sudan.

Fights against hunger and defends the fundamental rights of populations in difficulty. Born in the context of the Afghan crisis and emergency response for Afghan refugees who fled to Pakistan in 1979, ACF, a humanitarian, voluntary, and professional nongovernmental organization, was created by a group of French intellectuals. ACF's mission is to intervene in the field to save lives and preserve and restore food security for populations. Working in conjunction with the people it serves, ACF provides the material and human resources necessary to address needs, relieve human suffering, and safeguard human dignity. ACF contributes to the protection of populations by taking action and testifying.

ACTIONAID INTERNATIONAL

Fights poverty worldwide. Formed in 1972, ActionAid is an international development agency that last year helped more than 13 million of the world's poorest people in more than 40 countries. ActionAid is owned by national affiliates working with partners in Africa, Asia, the Americas, and Europe. In December 2003, the organization established a secretariat in Johannesburg, South Africa. ActionAid works with local partners, helping poor women and men gain their rights to food, education, human security, just and democratic governance, and health care. The organization's 350,000 supporters share its commitment, providing 70 percent of its income. ActionAid's partners range from small community groups to international networks, and its national and international campaigns highlight issues that affect poor people and influence the way that governments and international institutions work.

AGENCE D' AIDE À LA COOPÉRATION TECHNIQUE ET AU DÉVELOPPEMENT ACTED

Supports vulnerable populations affected by wars, natural disasters, and economic and social crises, and assists them in building a better future, thus contributing to the Millennium Development Goals. ACTED's interventions rely on the highest standards of relevance, compliance, and accountability. The organization promotes a multidisciplinary approach that is both global and local and adapted to each context, thus establishing a link between emergency, rehabilitation, and development. ACTED implements around 170 programs per year in more than 30 countries in Africa, Asia, the Middle East, and Latin America and the Caribbean, covering emergency relief and assistance, WASH (water, sanitation, and hygiene), agriculture and livelihoods, rehabilitation of infrastructure, education and training, economic development and microfinance, promotion of gender equality, local governance, environmental sustainability, culture, and heritage.

Works in the areas of emergency assistance, assistance to persons with disabilities, and landmine action. AAR JAPAN assists refugees and survivors of conflict, natural disasters, and other humanitarian crises. Since 1978, AAR JAPAN has provided emergency assistance in more than 15 countries, including Afghanistan, Burma (Myanmar), Lebanon, Sri Lanka, and Zambia. The organization is dedicated to assisting people in the most vulnerable situations and has increasingly focused its efforts on one of the most vulnerable groups among refugees and within post-conflict societies: people with disabilities (PWD). AAR JAPAN is working to strengthen the economic, psychological, and social capacities of PWDs by supporting vocational training, wheelchair production, physiotherapy, leadership training, and programs for foster parents with disabled children. AAR JAPAN also supports landmine clearance activities and mine risk education programs.

Builds healthy and sustainable communities in Africa. For 25 years, CPAR has been targeting some of the most vulnerable rural areas of Ethiopia, Malawi, Tanzania, and northern Uganda with important interventions related to food security, water and sanitation, and access to primary health services. CPAR's work is guided by the underlying belief that everything is connected: specifically, that health is determined not only by the existence of health care services but also by social, economic, and environmental factors. Therefore, CPAR's work not only involves direct health interventions—ensuring a continuum of care between clinic and community—but also addresses the determinants of health, which include access to clean water, adequate food, and a safe and healthy environment. All CPAR projects are designed to be sustainable, and the organization trains beneficiaries to manage projects so benefits continue to accrue long after CPAR's direct involvement.

CARITAS SCHWEIZ

Provides assistance and training to people in developing countries, equipping them with the skills necessary for sustainable development. EHGC currently carries out humanitarian community development programs in Bangladesh, Brazil, India, Kenya, Malawi, Togo, and Zambia that empower impoverished people to lift themselves out of the cycle of poverty and ill health. These programs provide primary education, vocational training for women, microenterprise support, HIV/AIDS prevention, medical assistance and, in Malawi and Zambia, agricultural training and inputs to increase food security. EHGC also helps in times of crisis, recently providing support following an earthquake in northern Malawi and severe flooding in Pakistan. EHGC is a Christian organization and its programs are open to all people, without regard to religion, race, caste, gender, or color.

Contributes to peace building by professionally reporting news that is useful and factual to populations that are victims of violence or natural disaster and are otherwise cut off from independent media reports. Fondation Hirondelle Media for Peace and Human Dignity believes that independently reported impartial information can help cultivate the conditions necessary for conflict-ravaged countries to return to peace and democracy. The organization grew out of a 1994 initiative by a group of Swiss journalists who launched Radio Agatashya in the aftermath of the Rwandan genocide. Fondation Hirondelle operates or has operated similar radio projects, in collaboration with the United Nations and on its own, in the Central African Republic, the Democratic Republic of the Congo, Kosovo, Liberia, Nepal, Sierra Leone, Sudan, Tanzania, and Timor-Leste.

Works with marginal farmers and herders, helping them to manage natural resources more effectively and build sustainable livelihoods. FARM-Africa's projects in Ethiopia, Kenya, South Sudan, Tanzania, and Uganda concentrate on three key themes: pastoral development, community forest management, and smallholder development and land reform. FARM-Africa works in partnership with communities, governments, local organizations, international nongovernmental organizations, and the private sector to develop rural livelihoods and have maximum impact. The organization has a board of trustees in the United Kingdom, 204 African staff members in Africa, and 23 staff members in its U.K. office. FARM-Africa also has an active supporters network, Friends-of-FARM, which comprises 20 groups with 150 members. The organization is supported by FARM-Africa USA, a U.S.-based 501(c)(3) nonprofit that seeks to alleviate hunger and poverty in Africa.

Responds to a crying but barely addressed need for quality post-primary education for refugees, returnees, and internally displaced persons globally. RET was founded by Mrs. Sadako Ogata, former U.N. High Commissioner for Refugees, under the belief that every adolescent has the right to a quality education. RET is committed to facilitating and promoting international cooperation in post-primary education for vulnerable youth affected by displacement; advancing human dignity, achievement, and self-reliance; and serving as a resource and advocate for innovative approaches in post-primary education for refugee youth. RET is also committed to ensuring that displaced youth, including girls and those with special needs, have equal access to education. RET is driven to expand educational opportunities and the understanding of conflict prevention, reconciliation, and social harmonization and integration in an effort to encourage reconstruction and repatriation.

Supports projects that provide fortified foods to large populations—through market channels where feasible and through public-sector delivery systems when markets fail. GAIN is a Swiss foundation that mobilizes public-private partnerships and provides financial and technical support to deliver nutritious foods to people most at risk of malnutrition. The organization was created in 2002 at a Special Session of the U.N. General Assembly on Children. GAIN is delivering improved nutrition to an estimated 273 million people, half of whom are women and children, in more than 25 countries. GAIN's Business Alliance unites food producers and is a global focal point for private-sector strategies against undernutrition in Africa, Asia, and Latin America and the Caribbean. More nutritious food improves individual productivity and helps reduce poverty.

Assists divided and conflicted societies to build lasting peace. Interpeace, an international peace-building organization based in Switzerland, was created as a U.N. pilot project, the War-torn Societies Project, in 1994. Interpeace became an independent nongovernmental organization (NGO) in 2000 and remains a close partner of the United Nations. The organization can implement Interpeace-style programming through the United Nations via the Joint Programme Unit for UN/Interpeace Initiatives or as an NGO. The organization's success is based on its belief in local ownership and local capacities. Interpeace works with carefully formed local teams that engage all sectors of a society to identify major challenges, develop consensus driven solutions, and strengthen the capacity to manage conflict in nonviolent ways. Currently, Interpeace has programs in Africa, Central America, the Middle East, and Southeast Asia.

Works to improve living conditions for children in a sustainable manner. Kindemothilfe is a German word that means "help for children in need." KNH began its work in 1959 and today reaches 568,000 children and young people in 28 countries on four continents. KNH assists with basic needs—food, medical care, and education—and supports young people's integration into their communities. Projects are based on participatory planning and implementation processes that are in the hands of local partners and the target groups. KNH focuses on children at risk: street children, working children, child soldiers, orphans, abused and sexually exploited children, and children who suffer exclusion because of various disabilities. The U.N. Convention on the Rights of the Child serves as the basis of KNH's work. And together with children and young people who live in poverty, KNH works toward a future free of destitution, violence, or abuse.

Provides emergency relief and rehabilitation to people and communities, often in forgotten or remote areas hit by crisis. Medair's relief efforts focus on health, water, sanitation, reconstruction, rehabilitation, and household and food security and help affected communities reestablish and sustain their ways of life. Medair assists in situations that are often complex in nature, such as those arising from armed conflict or natural disaster. The organization strengthens local capacities by employing and training local staff, purchasing local materials, and involving the communities it serves in the design, management, and implementation of programs. Since 2001, Medair has maintained the International Organization for Standardization's 9001 certification for quality management.

Facilitates large-scale, community-based animal health programs as well as livestock development interventions in Africa. VSF-Suisse was founded as a humanitarian, charitable, politically and religiously neutral organization to provide veterinary aid to areas where it is most needed. VSF-Suisse works primarily for and with people who depend on animals for their sustenance. The organization trains farmers, supports veterinary institutions, and works to establish associations that promote respect for animals and efficient management of natural resources. VSF-Suisse is also active in regions that have experienced natural disasters as well as areas of armed conflict. VSF-Suisse's experience in these circumstances has provided it with specific knowledge and expertise that is essential for successful short-term relief interventions.

Supports and strengthens the protective environment for children who, as a result of conflict, live with a combination of insecurity, poverty, and exclusion. WCUK works with street children, child-headed households, children conscripted into armed groups, disabled children, and children in prison as well as with marginalized youth up to the age of 24. The organization focuses on long-term, sustainable, community-based projects and works independently or in partnership with other agencies to provide practical and effective resolutions. WCUK has funded a host of nongovernmental organizations and projects around the world. WCUK was founded in response to the plight of children caught in the conflict in the former Yugoslavia, and the organization looks forward to a world in which the lives of children are no longer torn apart by war.

WAR CHILD CANADA WCC

Bridges the gap between internationally accepted principles for sustainable development and day-to-day practice in water management and water and sanitation service delivery. WfWP supports women's social and economic development by focusing on efforts to meet basic water and sanitation needs. WfWP coordinates regional working conferences that foster capacity development through communication and exchange of knowledge. The organization also administers a number of grant portfolios, including a unique, demand-driven small-grants system that provides seed funds for proposal development. Through these activities, WfWP enables its members to develop bankable project proposals and locate experts and donors to support their projects.

REGISTRY

CDOs as part of the larger PVO community will be listed in the U.S. PVO Registry. In order to be listed in the Registry as a CDO, the CDO must comply with the annual documentation requirements in the Code of Federal Regulations, Title 22, Part 203. The following CDOs are included in the U.S. PVO Registry.

Descriptions of voluntary foreign aid activities were provided by USAID-registered organizations.

ACDI/VOCA

Mr. Carl Leonard, President and CEO

50 F Street NW, Suite 1075
Washington, DC 20001
TEL: (202) 469-6200
FAX: (202) 469-6257
EMAIL: mrenaud@acdivoca.org
WEB: www.acdivoca.org

Expands economic opportunities and creates vibrant civil society in developing and transitioning countries. By providing technical and management assistance, ACDI/VOCA enables organizations—whether enterprises, financial institutions, or farm cooperatives—to manage and finance themselves and succeed in the global economy. Areas of expertise include food security, agribusiness, enterprise development, financial services, and community development. Long known for agricultural development and food security work, ACDI/VOCA has more recently gained prominence for value chain approaches to economic development, establishment of sustainable financial institutions, and participatory community strengthening, especially in conflict-affected areas. ACDI/VOCA implements 91 projects in 42 countries on behalf of public, private, and multilateral funders.

CHF INTERNATIONAL

Mr. David A. Weiss, CEO

8601 Georgia Avenue, Suite 800
Silver Spring, MD 20910
TEL: (301) 587-4700
FAX: (301) 587-7315
EMAIL: mailbox@chfinternational.org
WEB: www.chfinternational.org

Stimulates long-lasting positive change in low- and moderate-income communities around the world, helping them to improve their social, economic, and environmental conditions. Using a participatory, demand-driven approach, CHF International has worked in 115 countries since 1952, providing innovative development assistance that promotes local economic development and fosters grassroots community participation. Using businesslike approaches and democratic principles, CHF helps bolster the capacity of microenterprises, governments, cooperatives, and nongovernmental organizations to tackle social, environmental, and infrastructural issues on their own, while strengthening community participation and cohesion. CHF applies these principles effectively in many contexts, such as post-conflict emergency recovery and reconstruction, natural disaster response, mitigation of the HIV/AIDS pandemic, and focused assistance for low-income artisans.

ICMIF/AMERICAS

Mr. Edward Potter, Executive Director

8400 Westpark Drive, 2nd Floor
McLean, VA 22102-5116
TEL: (703) 245-8077
FAX: (703) 610-0211
EMAIL: info@aacmis.org
WEB: www.aacmis.org

Provides support and assistance to member-owned cooperative and mutual insurance companies that provide risk-mitigation and financial protection services to underserved low-income populations in Latin America and the Caribbean. By forming cooperative and mutual insurance companies through credit unions, cooperatives, labor unions, and farmers groups, ICMIF/Americas members create a sustainable and highly effective way to develop appropriate insurance products for the personal and business risks of low-income people.

NATIONAL COOPERATIVE BUSINESS ASSOCIATION NCBA

Mr. Paul Hazen, President and CEO

1401 New York Avenue NW, Suite 1100
Washington, DC 20005-2160
TEL: (202) 638-6222
FAX: (202) 638-1374
EMAIL: ncba@ncba.coop
WEB: www.ncba.coop

Provides technical assistance and training for the development of cooperatives, member-owned businesses, small enterprises, and microenterprises at the grassroots level, primarily in rural areas. Known overseas as the Cooperative League of the USA, the organization seeks to alleviate poverty through economic empowerment, democracy building, improved business skills, access to financing and information, and a cooperative approach to gain and protect market access for the rural poor. Recently, NCBA has applied its approach to community-managed health and sustainable natural resource use as well as to strengthening local organizations and local governments to support cooperative economic development.

NATIONAL RURAL ELECTRIC COOPERATIVE ASSOCIATION NRECA

Mr. Glenn English, Jr., CEO

4301 Wilson Boulevard
Arlington, VA 22203-1860
TEL: (703) 907-5605
FAX: (703) 907-5512
EMAIL: norma.hiller@nreca.coop
WEB: www.nreca.org

Designs and implements efficient and financially sustainable rural electrification systems worldwide and promotes the consumer-owned electric utility model to ensure electric service is responsive to local needs. NRECA draws on conventional and nonconventional technologies, develops low-cost design adaptations, and uses renewable energy resources where appropriate. Other services NRECA provides include developing national rural electrification plans and training local electric utility employees in electric utility management, accounting, engineering, operations, and maintenance. NRECA maintains offices in 6 countries and currently has projects in 12 countries. Domestic NRECA member cooperatives generate, transmit, and distribute electricity to more than 35 million consumers in the United States.

WORLD COUNCIL OF CREDIT UNIONS, INC.
WOCCU

Mr. Pete Crear, President and CEO

5710 Mineral Point Road
Madison, WI 53705
TEL: (608) 395-2000
FAX: (608) 395-2001
EMAIL: mail@woccu.org
WEB: www.woccu.org

Promotes the sustainable growth and expansion of quality credit unions for everyone worldwide. For almost 40 years, WOCCU has specialized in providing technical assistance and trade association services to members in more than 90 countries. WOCCU supports quality credit unions for everyone through its development projects, supporter programs, and international partnerships. WOCCU's proven Model Credit Union Building methodology provides steps to improve credit unions' efficiency and establish compliance with minimum financial standards that protect member savings. WOCCU works to create an appropriate regulatory environment for safe and sound credit union operation. As instruments of economic and social development, WOCCU and its member credit unions make a difference in the lives of more than 186 million people.

Registration does not refer to programmatic capability, nor does it confer any official status or approval. It is not the purpose of registration to make, or enable to be made, any representation to the public concerning the meaning of being registered.

Registration may be terminated by USAID if registrant uses promotional material or advertisements suggesting USAID's endorsement.

We live at a very special moment in history. The whole southern half of the world—Latin America, Africa, the Middle East, and Asia—are caught up in the adventures of asserting their independence and modernizing their old ways of life. . . . The 1960's can be—and must be—the crucial “decade of development”—the period when many less developed nations make the transition into self-sustained growth—the period in which an enlarged community of free, stable, and self-reliant nations can reduce world tensions and insecurity. . . . Our job, in its largest sense, is to create a new partnership between the northern and southern halves of the world, to which all free nations can contribute, in which each free nation must assume a responsibility proportional to its means.
