PROJECT TITLE Other Government Agency Activities in Support of the Alliance 598-11-120-414,454; 598-11-160-401; 598-11-370-150; PROJECT NUMBER 598-11-790-416,472,473	ACTIVITY General and Miscellaneous	FUNDS
	PRIOR REFERENCE D. 296 FY 68 LA P.D.B.	INITIAL OBLIGATION FY: 1953	SCHEDULED FINAL OBLIGATION FY: Continuing force of ten technicians, with expertise in various natural resources disciplines, located in Panama.

Project Target and Course of Action: To make available to Latin American USAID development programs the specialized services and expertise of appropriate U. S. Government agencies.

USDL: $32,000 for one manpower advisor to analyze manpower and vocational training requirements and provide advice to cooperating governments on manpower development programs.

IRS: $200,000 to develop and update training programs for Latin American tax administrators and to train approximately 20 U. S. tax advisors who will be assigned to Latin American USAIDs to assist Host Governments in developing effective tax administration programs.

FAA: $300,000 for a regional group of 9 full-time technicians whose services are available on request to assist USAIDs and Host Governments in the construction, installation and maintenance of modern airport facilities.

Bureau of Census: $100,000 for a five-man task force to develop common statistical bases to provide basic data which will enable A.I.D. and Host Governments to measure progress toward development and make more effective the programming of resources for economic development.

Department of Treasury: $75,000 for a three-man team of tax policy and analysis specialists to analyze Latin American tax systems and to identify areas of tax policy requiring modernization in order to better meet the needs of economic development efforts. In-service training will also be provided for selected Latin American participants on a pilot basis.

Progress to Date:

The Inter-American Geodetic Survey (IAGS) has assisted USAID's and Host Governments in the initiation of programs to develop natural resources in Latin America and has provided training for Host Government officials in resources inventory techniques. As part of the total natural resources development effort the Engineer Agency for Resources Inventory (EARI) has produced, in cooperation with the IAGS, resources atlases for the Central American Countries, Venezuela and the Dominican Republic.

The Department of Labor (USDL) has analyses of the manpower supply and training needs of L.A. countries and has recommended specific manpower programs for ten countries.

The Internal Revenue Service (IRS) has trained more than 90 tax advisors who have been assigned to assist Host Government tax administration programs in 16 L.A. countries. IRS has also developed courses for Latin Americans in General Tax Administration Tax Audit and Tax Collection techniques and provides training for about 200 L.A. Tax Administrators each year.

FY 1969 Program:

IAGS: $250,000 to continue assistance to country programs in natural resources development through a regional task
