Annex A

I. BACKGROUND

The Vietnamese Information Service (VIS) of the Ministry of Information (MOI) has the primary function of extending to all of the people of Vietnam the facilities and services of the Ministry to better inform them of the government's programs and objectives. This is accomplished through 49 Provincial Information Centers which in turn serve District, Village and Hamlet personnel of the VIS.

The staff and facilities of the VIS also support with audio-visual services the needs of other Ministries having field operations.

The Provincial and District staffs total approximately 300 employees, and the field cadre to be employed in villages and hamlets will total around 12,000.

In order to meet the training needs of the VIS, the An Dong Training Center in Saigon was established and provided with commodity and technical support by the USAID through JUSPAO.

The center now has a director and a staff of 20 employees. Facilities include classrooms, dormitories, mess hall, clinic, and audio-visual instructional equipment. One hundred trainees can be accommodated at any one time. The center has not provided resident training for the past 14 months and has been without an American Advisor for over a year. Now that MOI is to assume administrative responsibility for the VIS cadre formerly under the Ministry of Interior, it is imperative that a training program be reestablished if these cadre are to be given technical preparation for their VIS field assignments.

II. PURPOSE

It is proposed that an instructor staff of VIS personnel from the Provincial and Regional VIS centers be trained at the An Dong Center and these personnel will train the village and hamlet cadre personnel in the field.

The An Dong training will extend over a six-week period and cover indoctrination in GVN and MOI policy and programs, with particular emphasis on the 1969 Pacification and Development Plan; and instruction in the administrative and technical aspects of VIS field operations. Both of these elements of training are to make maximum use of involvement exercises in which students actively participate in the learning situation, i.e. development, production and utilization of visual aids, including visits to Vietnamese government institutions in the Saigon area, etc.

Graphic training materials are to be designed and produced for the An Dong and field training programs, some of this will be adapted from materials presently utilized at Vung Tau Training Center.

In addition to training for the VIS field requirements, the An Dong Center will provide special programs of training to meet all of MOI's requirements, as well as the requirements of other Ministries which conduct public information programs.

III. RESPONSIBILITIES

A. GVN

Under this Agreement, the MOI agrees:

1. To appoint a GVN Training Project Manager to act as counterpart to the Advisor. The Training Project Manager will have supervisory and administrative authority to make joint decisions with the US Advisor in relation to staff, training programs, logistics, budget, supplies and equipment and training methods. Notification of the appointment of this counterpart shall be made to USAID and JUSPAO within twenty days after this agreement is signed.
2. To provide support from its Regular Budget for the An Dong Training Center adequate to carry out the purposes of this agreement. This will include personnel and operating expenses, and instruction and operating supplies required to carry out the work plan attached hereto; and VN$7,500,000 from the CY 1969 American Aid Chapter budget for the preparation of training materials.

The cycle will be repeated until staff from all Provinces and Districts have been trained.

5. The MOI agrees to allocate an appropriate percentage of IPH production to servicing the printing requirements of its field program, the Vietnamese Information Service (VIS). This will include both national products distributed through VIS channels and products requested from VIS units in the field, if approved and certified by the MOI Assistant Minister for Research, Training, and Planning to conform with the purposes of this Agreement. Every effort will be made by MOI to limit use of commercial sources for printing that can be provided by the IPH.
6. The MOI agrees to take steps to retire and dispose of non-productive equipment on hand at the IPH and to establish a realistic basis for acquisition of needed additional equipment, parts, and supplies.
7. The MOI agrees to increase its efforts to improve the technical and production capabilities of the IPH by working with the USG Technical Project Manager to establish a more efficient organizational structure (management, personnel and administration); improved maintenance and repair of existing equipment to restore it to productive use; to establish a spare parts supply inventory; to provide air-conditioned storage area for perishable and sensitive graphic arts materials, and to work towards standardization and simplification in the scheduling of printing projects.
8. The MOI agrees to provide for proper maintenance of IPH facilities to include, but not be limited to, keeping the building in good repair; providing staff and materials for adequate cleaning and servicing of the facilities; providing electric power and safe and adequate wiring; providing an adequate water tower and filtration system; maintaining the air conditioning mentioned above; maintaining production installations, and providing minimum comfort facilities for employees, including washrooms and latrines.
9. The MOI agrees that the Technical Project Manager working together with his US counterpart, will recommend to the GVN and JUSPAO a new staffing pattern to include managerial, administrative, technical, unskilled and custodial staffs.

I. BACKGROUND

USAID assistance to the various activities of the Vietnamese Ministry of Information (MOI) was initiated in 1954 to provide improved audio-visual and information service in support of USAID/GVN projects in education, public health, agriculture, public administration, and public safety. Assistance was concentrated initially in the Vietnamese Information Service (VIS) and its provincial and regional facilities throughout the nation.

In 1956 aid was extended to include the MOI Information Printing House and VTVN, the government radio broadcasting facility; the National Motion Picture Center of MOI was included in 1967.

In 1965 USIA was given policy and coordinative responsibility for all US Government agencies working in the information area through the establishment of the Joint United States Public Affairs Office (JUSPAO). Major emphasis under JUSPAO direction has been placed on the production and dissemination of information directed toward the goals described below. FY70 Project Agreements have been signed for all the sub-activities of the National Information Services Project (i.e., An Dong Training Center, Information Printing House, National Motion Picture Center, Vietnamese Information Service and 4-Station Radio Project) with the exception of the Radio Network.

II. DESCRIPTION AND OBJECTIVES

This project is designed to develop the GVN's capability and facilities to communicate more effectively with the Vietnamese people and thus create a better understanding of government efforts to bring about political unity, security, and economic stability; to inform the populace of the programs for better health, education and improved agriculture; and to rebut enemy propaganda.

The goal of this activity is a national radio broadcasting network that will reach 95 percent of the population. This will be accomplished by the construction of four new stations and training of program and technical staff. Construction of the four new stations (Nha Trang, Da Nang, Qui Nhon, and Quan Tre/Saigon) was started during the second half of FY70 and should be completed about April 1, 1971. A contract for training network operational and maintenance personnel is funded under this agreement. The training program for operations and maintenance will commence immediately upon acceptance of the various stations by the US and will continue for one year. As soon as possible prior to this, VTVN will let a contract for the rehabilitation and maintenance of existing generator and air-conditioning equipment which will also provide for preliminary practical training of the VTVN personnel designated to operate the four-station project power plants.

a. Obtain funding for the contract to rehabilitate and/or replace and maintain the VTVN diesel/electric generator and air-conditioning equipment currently in use and install air-conditioning equipment on hand at Can Tho. This contract will be let during CY70 and will include provisions for the maintenance of power plants and air-conditioners at each station.

The VTVN employees who will be responsible for the operation and maintenance of the power plants for the four new stations, shall be assigned to work with as required, to allow adequate time for processing, procuring and shipping, and receipt at destinations to avoid depletion of any stock items during and following conclusion of the OMT program.

Upon conclusion of the OMT contract continued operation of the entire National Radio Broadcasting Network facility, including maintenance and purchase of parts and supplies, shall be financed entirely with GVN funds.

d. Stations at Ban Me Thuot, Hue, Quang Ngai and Can Tho shall be retained and operated exclusively through VTVN funding, following "phase-in" of the four-station network, to supplement network broadcasts with local and special interest programming.

e. Make available to ARVN exclusive use of Channel B for broadcasts to military personnel. Programming and production of broadcast tapes for Channel "B" shall be the responsibility of ARVN. ARVN agrees to supply adequate technical personnel and diesel fuel required to operate the broadcasting stations. In the event the necessity for a separate channel for military broadcasts ceases, VTVN may use these facilities for other priority purposes.

Explanation and/or comments

The FY70 JUSPAO participant training was programmed at 20 trainees costing $85,000 in the PBS. Substitution of in-country training, a shortage of qualified trainees, and the decision to replace US training with third-country training led to a reduction to only five participants to go to Japan for motion-picture training at a cost of $16,800. The funds in excess of that amount were reprogrammed.

The switch from the US to Japan for training was originally suggested by USIS in Japan. It sounded good in theory, but after looking into the practical aspects USIS/Japan had second thoughts and withdrew the offer. JUSPAO re-planned for training in the US, but it was then late in the FY so funds were not available to augment those remaining in the program. The net result was that the available funds were obligated to cover the training of only three participants, with the understanding that the remaining two would be funded in FY71. The enclosed documentation covers those two.
