OVERVIEW

USAID STRENGTHENS PUBLIC-PRIVATE PARTNERSHIPS WITH PRIVATE VOLUNTARY AND NONGOVERNMENTAL ORGANIZATIONS WORLDWIDE

INTRODUCTION

The Report of Voluntary Agencies Engaged in Overseas Relief and Development (VolAg Report) provides a snapshot of the work of the U.S. and international Private Voluntary Organizations (PVOs) that are registered with USAID. As defined by USAID, a PVO is a tax-exempt, nonprofit organization working in international development that receives some portion of its annual revenue from the private sector (demonstrating its private nature) and also receives voluntary contributions of money, staff time, or in-kind support from the general public (demonstrating its voluntary nature). PVOs register with USAID to establish and maintain eligibility to compete for grants and cooperative agreements. Information about registration can be found at www.usaid.gov | Keyword: PVO Registration.

The 2008 VolAg Report includes a short description and a summary of financial activities for the 537 U.S. PVOs, 67 international PVOs, and 7 U.S. Cooperative Development Organizations (CDOs) registered with USAID as of June 30, 2008. The information contained in this report is also available through the online PVO Registry, a searchable database that is updated daily, on the USAID Web site at www.usaid.gov | Keyword: PVO Registry.

LEVERAGING PRIVATE RESOURCES FOR DEVELOPMENT

By enlisting the PVO community's expertise and program delivery capacities, USAID is better able to direct humanitarian relief and development assistance to areas of need. As the data presented in this report indicate, the privately generated resources that PVOs devote to international development activities far exceed the resources they receive from USAID or the U.S. Government.

U.S. PVOs received $19.8 billion in support from U.S. citizens and private sources, nearly eight times the $2.6 billion from USAID.

During fiscal year 2006, U.S. PVOs received $19.8 billion in support from U.S. citizens and private sources, which is nearly eight times the $2.6 billion that USAID channeled to PVOs. Furthermore, support from private sources increased by $1.2 billion during the year, climbing more than 6 percent from the 2005 level. Other U.S. Government agencies and international organizations provided an additional $5.2 billion, bringing the total private and public support and revenue for registered U.S. PVOs to $27.6 billion.

International PVOs and local nongovernmental organizations also help USAID support local capacities to address local needs, bringing additional resources to bear and facilitating sustainable development worldwide. USAID provided almost $100 million to registered international PVOs in 2006, supplementing their $2 billion in direct spending on international relief and development activities.

OPERATIONAL DEVELOPMENTS

The Office of Private and Voluntary Cooperation (PVC), formerly in the Bureau for Democracy, Conflict and Humanitarian Assistance, is now the Private and Voluntary Cooperation Division in the Office of Development Partners (PVC/ODP). ODP oversees the work of USAID's representatives to the Organization of Economic Cooperation and Development, the Government of Japan, the European Union, and the U.S. Executive Director's Office at the World Bank. The Office also coordinates international and regional meetings with key development partners, ensuring the high quality of Agency participation. ODP supports the promotion of the broader strategic U.S. Government foreign assistance agenda across a wide variety of multilateral institutions and bilateral and private donors.

ODP also supports the Administrator's roles as a permanent board member of the Millennium Challenge Corporation (MCC) and as a central point for the coordination and implementation of MCC threshold programs in the Agency. In addition, the Office leads the Global Development Alliance (GDA) initiative, which supports the Agency's efforts to establish strategic public-private alliances with corporate and foundation partners.

The PVC Division manages the Agency's Cooperative Development Program with U.S. cooperatives, manages mechanisms to support USAID Mission provision of capacity building to local NGO partners, designs and coordinates the Development Grants Program, and, with the U.S. Peace Corps, oversees the Small Project Assistance (SPA) InterAgency Agreement. Finally, PVC manages the PVO registration process and is continually seeking ways to effectively streamline registration procedures. In 2008, staff and a number of volunteer PVOs tested the newly developed Web-based registration process. The online PVO-MIS registration system will eliminate the need to submit hard copies of registration materials. Starting in November 2008, registered PVOs and new applicants will be able to submit their registration materials electronically.

DOING BUSINESS WITH USAID

To implement its worldwide humanitarian and development activities, USAID uses various acquisition and assistance instruments, including contracts, grants, cooperative agreements, and purchase orders. USAID negotiates and initiates these instruments to obtain the commodities and technical assistance the Agency requires to achieve its objectives. Organizations seeking to work with USAID will find useful policy and business information at the following Web sites:

www.usaid.gov | Keyword: ADS

The Automated Directives System outlines USAID's policies and procedures. (See Chapter 303 – Grants and Cooperative Agreements.)

www.usaid.gov | Keyword: AAPDs

Acquisition and Assistance Policy Directives provide information on USAID's cost-sharing policy.

www.usaid.gov | Keyword: Forecast

Upcoming procurement opportunities with USAID's offices in Washington and overseas.

Searchable database of PVOs currently registered with USAID.

www.usaid.gov | Keyword: PVO Registration

The VolAg Report is the culmination of the annual effort by the Office of Development Partners' Private and Voluntary Cooperation Division staff to collect, validate, and disseminate a clear, factual report that helps inform the Congress, Agency staff, partner organizations, and the general public about the activities of the PVO community. We hope you find it a useful resource.

ASI flies where other air carriers cannot—or will not—fly. ASI provides safe, reliable, and cost-effective air transportation to fellow humanitarian relief and development agencies working primarily in remote, transportation-deficient regions of the world. ASI's pilots fly small yet agile single- and twin-engine airplanes and helicopters, carrying relief workers into stricken areas of Africa, Asia, the Caribbean, Central America, Eastern Europe, and the Middle East. ASI's operations impart a multiplier effect on donor dollars, as the organizations receiving transport share the costs. These organizations are then able to concentrate on their areas of expertise, leaving the logistics to the experts at ASI.

Reduces water-related illness and death in developing countries by building self-sustaining projects that make safe drinking water accessible to the poor and empowers local churches to bring physical, social, and spiritual healing to their communities. The communities targeted by HWI are often overlooked for aid because they have municipal water systems in place. Unfortunately, many of these systems deliver contaminated water, and commercially bottled water is a luxury the poor cannot afford. Attributes of HWI's water programs include the following: (1) projects are financially self-sustaining through water sales; (2) the water is tested monthly to guarantee purity; (3) bottle rinsing equipment ensures that clean water doesn't go into dirty containers; (4) accountability systems allow donors to monitor the ongoing performance of their projects; and (5) revenues help fund additional community service projects.

Improves the lives of the rural poor in developing nations through agricultural and economic development. IDE's guiding principle is that the rural poor are natural entrepreneurs who, if given the opportunity, will invest their limited resources to ensure their families' food supply and generate income. IDE empowers rural farmers to pull themselves out of poverty by making available quality inputs, training, affordable technologies, capital, and access to markets. Simple, low-cost water technologies increase income generation by allowing farmers to cultivate high-value, labor-intensive crops. These technologies have enabled families to become more efficient agricultural producers, generally doubling their net annual income in the first year. IDE's efforts have helped some 17 million people escape poverty.

PPI operates programs in the Middle East, South Africa, Cyprus, and Northern Ireland that bring children together from different backgrounds to form positive relationships, develop leadership skills, and improve their futures. These children are old enough to pick up the basics of the sport, but young enough where many prejudices have not yet been cemented. The Tostan Community Empowerment Program equips participants with knowledge, skills, and experience in human rights and responsibilities, democracy, problem solving, hygiene, health, literacy, math, and management to empower them to become self-sufficient actors in their communities' development. Tostan's holistic approach has brought about positive results in many areas, including health, women's empowerment, and the defense of human rights. Some examples of Tostan's impact include increased pre- and post-natal consultations, increased vaccination rates, improved community health services, the emergence of female leadership, the reduction of domestic violence, increased enrollment of girls in school, and active citizen participation.
