TAICH COUNTRY REPORT
DEVELOPMENT ASSISTANCE PROGRAMS FOR THE PHILIPPINES

August 1980

This report describes the programs of 93 private, non-profit U.S. organizations which provide the people of the Philippines with development assistance and material aid. An index of the specific programs appears in chart form at the end of the report. Of the 93 U.S. organizations included in the report, 58 were able to provide TAICH with financial data indicating program expenditures in 1979 totaling $34,793,526. These figures should be viewed more as indicators than as exact sums; differences in fiscal year, methods of financial reporting and methods of estimating dollar values of commodities, equipment and material shipped make correlation and absolute accuracy impossible.

This is one of a series of periodically revised reports which describe by country the development assistance activities of the U.S. non-profit sector. Additional and new information on the programs of the organizations appearing in this report is gathered regularly and is available from TAICH. Readers are requested to advise TAICH of any changes or new programs of U.S. private, non-profit organizations in the Philippines. Besides country reports, TAICH publishes directories, bibliographies, a quarterly newsletter and a series of category reports in which descriptions of assistance programs are compiled by functions of development assistance. A publications list is available from TAICH.

The information given on each organization is based on the data supplied to TAICH by the organization. Publication of this information does not guarantee accuracy of content or endorsement by the American Council or TAICH of any organization.

AMERICAN COUNCIL OF VOLUNTARY AGENCIES FOR FOREIGN SERVICE, INC.
TECHNICAL ASSISTANCE INFORMATION CLEARING HOUSE (TAICH)
200 Park Avenue South, New York, New York 10003

THE AMERICAN COUNCIL OF VOLUNTARY AGENCIES FOR FOREIGN SERVICE, INC. was founded in 1943 for the purpose of providing a forum for cooperation, joint planning and the exchange of ideas and information in order to avoid duplication of effort and assure the maximum effectiveness of the relief, rehabilitation and development programs of American voluntary agencies. Through the mechanism of the Council, member agencies have established relationships not only among themselves but with non-member agencies and governmental, intergovernmental and international organizations. The Technical Assistance Information Clearing House (TAICH) has been operated by the Council since 1955 with support from the U.S. Government, currently a grant from the Agency for International Development. All agencies that are Council members are noted by a +.

THE TECHNICAL ASSISTANCE INFORMATION CLEARING HOUSE serves as a center of information on the socio-economic development programs abroad of U.S. non-profit organizations, including voluntary agencies, church missions and foundations. It makes available to organizations, government, researchers and others, source materials from its files for study and research. Through publications and the maintenance of an everyday inquiry service TAICH responds to the need for current information about development assistance with particular reference to the resources and concerns of the private, non-profit sector.

THE AGENCY FOR INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT (A.I.D.), part of the United States International Development Cooperation Agency, maintains in its Bureau for Private and Development Cooperation a registry of U.S. private and voluntary organizations active in the fields of relief, rehabilitation and development overseas. Registered organizations are eligible to apply for A.I.D. resources, including grants and participation in the U.S. Government overseas freight reimbursement, Food for Peace and Government-owned excess property programs. For a current list of registered organizations write to the Agency for International Development, Office of Private and Voluntary Cooperation, Washington, D.C. 20523. Registered organizations are noted by an *.

COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT: Assists federations and unions in developing such self-help social projects as community and day care centers, combined with vocational education efforts directed at providing increased employment opportunities.

COOPERATIVES, CREDIT UNIONS & LOANS: Assists in the development of union-sponsored consumer and producer cooperatives in both industrial and rural sectors; assists in purchase and distribution of irrigation pumps, tractors, rice milling machinery and other equipment; provides seed capital loans on a revolving fund basis. Co-sponsors residential cooperative courses with the Agricultural Credit and Cooperative Institute, University of the Philippines and with various unions, principally in the field of cooperative principles, management and membership education methods. Operates a research and documentation center used by all segments of the labor movement. A regional economist assists unions throughout Southeast and East Asia in improving their capabilities for research and analysis of economic data. Conducts special, multinational regional conferences on such subjects as union community service, women's affairs and other trade union concerns.

INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT & MANAGEMENT: Conducts courses in trade union education and leadership training with federations and national unions; special emphasis is placed on collective bargaining, arbitration, grievance handling and procedures, labor legislation, problems common to unions in the same industry, economic and statistical research, and other areas encouraging the unification of the labor movement.

MEDICINE & PUBLIC HEALTH: Assists federations and unions in improving medical services to workers through union-sponsored clinics, immunization campaigns, mobile clinics, preventive medical education projects and pharmacies.

PERSONNEL: 3 U.S., 10 local.

PROGRAM INITIATION: 1969; regional program begun in 1971.

Quezon City, Philippines

COOPERATIVES, CREDIT UNIONS & LOANS: Works to establish a cooperative credit system capable of effectively serving member farmers and of expanding to allow farmers to derive full benefits from land tenure reform and increased production. Specifically the project assists some 15 selected Area Marketing Cooperatives (AMC) to become firmly established with sound management practices and adequate facilities and working capital to serve their market area. The managers and directors of the 15 selected AMC's will be assisted to analyze the economic requirements of their members, identify the points of weakness of unreasonably high cost in the service provided to members by private business and select the most profitable investments for the AMC's. Provides assistance to the Cooperative Finance Group (CFG) of the Central Bank to analyze AMC loans for such investments and to make and supervise such loans. Assists the CFG to establish and manage an agricultural loan fund to finance such investments; set up a trust fund to purchase preferred stock in AMC's to enable them to borrow larger amounts from the loan fund than would otherwise be possible. Also will establish a guarantee fund to which AMC's would contribute in proportion to their loans in order to enable cooperative rural banks to make loans larger than 15 percent of a bank's net worth to a single AMC. Trains the staff of the CFG in sound banking operations so that they may ultimately become the nucleus of a bank for cooperatives. Setting up a marketing information system for the agricultural cooperatives which may include both the daily dissemination of market price information of major commodities and an internal information network for guiding the flow of agricultural products from AMC's to markets where the demand is greatest. Provides an analysis of the organizational and facility needs of the Central Marketing System of the Philippines to help establish that organization on a sound basis, serving the central marketing and supply needs of the AMC's.

FUTURE PLANS: At the end of the project the 15 AMC's should be providing complete and effective service to the farmer-members in their areas; their financial strength should be substantially improved through increased member savings and reinvestment of earnings; the Central Marketing System of the Philippines should be well launched on providing central marketing services to these AMC's and in a position to continue growing on a sound basis to become a national service organization.

PERSONNEL: 2 U.S. plus short-term consultants.

PROGRAM INITIATION: 1979.

The purpose of the program is nutritional improvement for the vulnerable groups, particularly in heavily-populated areas, and the promotion of self-sufficiency through an integrated socio-economic development approach. The three main aspects of the program include food-for-work, funded projects and rural water projects, aimed at providing basic needs such as water, food, shelter and increased income through the maximization of appropriate technology in all its aspects.

EQUIPMENT & MATERIAL AID: All emergency assistance is coordinated through the Ministry of Social Services and Development (MSSD) or the Philippine National Red Cross (PNRC); aid was needed because of typhoons, floods, volcanic eruptions and fires. CRS made available 403,100 pounds of food for 1,263,340 recipients, valued at $89,000. In addition, 221,533 pounds of clothing and bedding, valued at $336,729 were provided, and 2,685 pounds of medicines, valued at $15,627, were provided. Approximately 2,300 Vietnamese refugees aboard the Tung An and those at the refugee camp at the Fabella Center in Mangaluyong, Metro Manila, have been receiving food supplements. A large number of Nutribuns, valued at $15,661, has been distributed.

FOOD PRODUCTION & AGRICULTURE: Food production in Santa Barbara, Pangasinan, is rapidly being increased. Operates a new project in the Bicol Region whose main objective is to attain self-sufficiency in local food production through the establishment of plant nurseries to support systematically and scientifically planned backyard gardens.

MEDICINE & PUBLIC HEALTH: The nutrition programs are aimed at improving the nutrition of such groups as infants, toddlers, and pregnant and nursing mothers, as well as other groups in need, through nutrition education and supplementary feeding. To accomplish this eight program projects were devised: Mothercraft

COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT: Operates rural development programs designed by the local "barangays" (the Philippine word for village); 10 "barangays", covering a population of 12,000 in Sorsogon Province, are involved. The programs incorporate suggestions from "konsulta" meetings (traditional village meetings where community members discuss local problems and devise solutions) and are being implemented with the technical assistance of International Human Assistance Programs' (IHAP) field staff, and provincial and municipal governmental agencies. The program has three goals: to establish a system for delivering improved services in agriculture, nutrition, health care, family planning and environmental sanitation in the target areas; to train leaders and volunteers; and to initiate income-generating projects. Similar integrated development programs are being implemented by four barangays in Maguidanao Province, Mindanao providing for the training of community agricultural development workers and health aides in preventive and curative health care, installation of improved water and sanitation facilities, and the provision of income-generating activities. In cooperation with Holy Cross College of Digos, operates a program in 11 municipalities in Davao del Sur Province, Mindanao which provides reading and audio-visual materials on farming and other aspects of rural development.

EDUCATION: Twelve thousand Negritos (also called Aetas), a minority group living in 16 villages of the Zambales Mountains, have been trained in vegetable gardening, poultry raising, carpentry, blacksmithing, dressmaking, tailoring, food preservation and handicrafts. A manpower project at San Marcos, Bulacan Province, is providing training in sewing for unemployed barrio women. Funds have been given to build the workshop and purchase equipment and materials to make children's clothing; the seamstresses have sold the clothes they made in both domestic and foreign markets. Ninety youth from Digos and surrounding municipalities of Davao del Sur are being trained in automotive repair and body building, and painting and welding at a vocational center at Holy Cross College in Digos. The center also maintains a job placement service that helps the graduates find commercial employment in Digos and surrounding areas. Approximately 1,000 youth from 21 barrios in Camarines Sur Province have been trained in cosmetology, handicrafts, poultry and swine raising, dressmaking and men's tailoring in a joint project with Camarines Sur Agricultural College in Pili and the Foundation for Youth Development. Provides job placement services and interest-free loans from a revolving fund for selected graduates to start agricultural and livestock projects. IHAP has designed a similar project for Moslem youth living on Mindanao.

EQUIPMENT & MATERIAL AID: Providing funds, medical and rehabilitation equipment, and supplies and pharmaceuticals for the renovation and expansion of the Rehabilitation Center of Philippine General Hospital in Manila. During FY ending 6/30/79 donated medical equipment, supplies, pharmaceuticals, vocational training equipment, tools and books, valued at over $650,000 to approximately 15 hospitals, vocational training schools and educational institutions.

FOOD PRODUCTION & AGRICULTURE: With the cooperation of the local Moslem Community Development Boards established two goat breeding centers in Zamboanga and on Simunul Island in the Sulu Sea. The purpose of this program is to improve and increase the goat herds by crossing native stock with pure-bred Anglo-Nubian goats. The goats provide additional nutritious food for the villagers, and income from the sale of milk, cheese and meat. Goat pens have been built, a water system has been installed and community members have been trained to care for the goats. A crop diversification program has been introduced in Sorsogon Province for small independent farmers and tenant farmers to help them earn extra income. A total of 80,000 coffee, cacao, black pepper and ipil-ipil seedlings were grown at a nursery and then distributed without charge to participating farmers. IHAP helped organize the Sorsogon Dairy Farmers Association to increase income and improve nutrition in Sorsogon Province; it supplied funds to purchase dairy cattle, goats, farming equipment, a water supply system, fertilizers and drugs for the animals. Also provided technical assistance for the livestock program and for the management of the farmers' cooperatives.

MEDICINE & PUBLIC HEALTH: In cooperation with Peace Corps Volunteers is providing assistance to the Bohol Provincial Hospital's Pediatric Department for the treatment and feeding of malnourished children; a special hospital team provides follow-up care as needed. Health and nutrition education is given to the mothers. Providing funds, equipment and technical assistance to establish a pure water supply system for the people of three barangays in Panapanga, Botangas and Albay Provinces. With the cooperation of U.S. Peace Corps Volunteers undertook two projects to increase water supplies and improve local wells in Misamis, Occidental and Pangasinan Provinces. Provided funds to build a potable water supply system for the village of Kilo in the Zambales Mountains. Operates a tuberculosis eradication project that reaches 600,000 people on Masbate Island. It includes immunizations, a detection system, laboratory examination services, ambulatory and home treatment for identified cases, and health education. Thirty youth have completed training as "barefoot doctors" in a three-month program that provided instruction in first aid, maternal and child care, sanitation, family planning and preventive health. Graduates are working in barrios in Albay Province.

POPULATION & FAMILY SERVICES: In cooperation with the Bulacan Social Action Council of Malolos, Bulacan Province, operates a family planning and nutrition education program for 5,000 married couples. As part of the program, provides funds and vegetable seeds for individual and community gardens.

SOCIAL WELFARE: Provided a placement coordinator at the Philippine Foundation for Rehabilitation of the Disabled to help over 100 handicapped people find employment.

FUTURE PLANS: To extend the crop diversification program in Sorsogon Province to 13 additional nurseries; to establish a product processing facility and organize a cooperative for participating farmers. To extend the "barefoot doctor" training program to other areas.

The International Institute of Rural Reconstruction (IIRR), based in the Philippines, carries out field operations and research studies of grass roots development programs. Its field operations are concentrated in 80 villages in the province of Cavite, which serves as its social laboratory. In addition it helped organize affiliated national rural reconstruction movements in five developing countries and provides them both technical and partial financial assistance. The Philippine Rural Reconstruction Movement (PRRM) was the first one IIRR helped establish. PRRM has major programs of cooperative development, non-formal education (see World Education for a description of this project) and a Local Technology Center, and also operates a graduate studies program on community development authorized by the Philippine Department of Education and Culture in collaboration with the University of the Philippines. Some of the programs of the IIRR are described below.

COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT: Supports projects to foster community organization by training village leaders and by teaching villagers to participate in self-governing committees that are established to implement rural development projects.

COOPERATIVES, CREDIT UNIONS & LOANS: Supports the establishment of purchasing and marketing cooperatives, including development of village industries and provision of credit.

ECONOMIC & DEVELOPMENT PLANNING: Provides leadership training for rural development specialists from third world countries. Two seven-week courses are conducted annually, with the purpose of enabling them to be more effective in helping rural people in their own countries. Some participants in the training sessions upon their return helped initiate new rural reconstruction movements in their respective countries, although these are not affiliated with IIRR. Operates a special women's project with its main thrust in economic improvement and income generation.

EDUCATION: Supports a wide range of educational and cultural activities emphasizing literacy training including the development of literature for the new literates, the promotion of village theater, choral and string ensembles and the promotion of folk dancing and other local cultural traditions. Recently initiated a People's School which trains villagers to serve as paraprofessionals and technology diffusers in all areas of development, with follow-up and field support.

FOOD PRODUCTION & AGRICULTURE: Supports projects in both plant and animal production to improve agricultural output.

MEDICINE & PUBLIC HEALTH: Supports a broad program of health education, nutrition, maternal and child care, and environmental sanitation.

POPULATION & FAMILY SERVICES: Supports projects on population and family planning integrated with the health and nutrition programs.

22 West 17th Street, New York, New York 10011 -- (212) 620-2100

SOCIAL WELFARE: Provides support to a community-based rural service delivery system in pilot projects in Laguna and Tarlac Provinces; 30 village workers are employed by the Ministry of Social Services and Development (MSSD). These workers conduct house-to-house surveys in the villages to locate handicapped persons, coordinate appropriate referrals and provide on-site services to blind persons aimed at integrating them into active family and community life. Vocational training is provided in the village if the blind person desires. Supplies medical and public health services as part of the program in Tarlac and Laguna.

FUTURE PLANS: Field workers will provide eye health care and nutrition education in the villages and will assist in the distribution of vitamin A to prevent nutritional blindness when requested by appropriate medical authorities and staff. The present rural delivery scheme will be implemented in six more regions in the next three years when MSSD will have acquired sufficient technical expertise in program and staff training to complete a nationwide extension of the scheme.

The program provides self-help opportunities and improved nutrition for local fishermen in the Penguin Bay area of Mindanao, and facilitates the initiation of community organizational and developmental activities on Mindoro Island.

COOPERATIVES, CREDIT UNIONS & LOANS: Provides for training in the formation and operation of a prawn farmers' cooperative in Mindanao.

EDUCATION: Mindoro communities send members to the National Rural Life Center for technical and vocational training which will eventually enable them to provide the technical supervision for the project.

FOOD PRODUCTION & AGRICULTURE: Through training and extension services in Mindoro, farmers learn cultivation using animal traction, use of better seeds, appropriate technology and other methods such as upgrading cattle through cross-breeding. In Mindanao, 14 prawn-rearing ponds provide 10,000-30,000 prawns per year for marketing. Trains 300 local fishermen to cultivate and market prawns for local consumption. A prawn nursery, managed separately, provides prawn fry for the ponds, and trains and equips 2,000 local fishermen to collect and market prawn fry.

MEDICINE & PUBLIC HEALTH: The Mindoro project provides basic health services as well as introducing health and nutrition education. The Mindanao project stimulates raising and marketing of protein-rich prawns. Provides medical supplies for Lutheran Hospital at Abatan in northern Philippines.

PUBLIC ADMINISTRATION: Assists Mindoro farmers in acquiring titles to ancestral lands in order to keep land they have developed.

FUTURE PLANS: To enable both programs to be administered by local personnel.

* WORLD EDUCATION, INC.

251 Park Avenue South, New York, New York 10010 -- (212) 598-4480

EDUCATION: Supports a non-formal education research project in cooperation with the Philippine Rural Reconstruction Movement (see the entry for the International Institute of Rural Reconstruction). The object of the project is to determine what factors cause people to stay in or drop out of educational programs and how to present information most effectively on health, nutrition, and family planning in such a way that it will have the most lasting impact on rural adults. Local women are trained to work with village groups, carry out activities they choose, on the premise that if the adults are involved with programs they help to choose, they will be more enthusiastic about the program. Municipal and community learning

Address of contact: Wilmer Dagen, Representative for Southeast Asia
P.O. Box 286, Cebu City 6401, Philippines
Tel. 9-1283

COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT: Assists Silliman University Medical Center in Dumaguete City in a community-based health program with the purpose of realizing integrated community development. A team composed of a health leader, food production and community development worker and a homemaker trains local leaders in the four target barrios. The emphasis is on food production classes and demonstrations for farmers, soil analysis, proper use of fertilizer, nutrition classes for mothers, weighing and immunization projects for children, use of water-sealed toilets and provision of local family planning services. World Neighbors provides stipends for program staff, transportation costs and program expenses, including staff training and conferences.

MEDICINE & PUBLIC HEALTH: Assists the Institute of Community and Family Health (ICFH) in a simplified health care system based in the community with a midwife supervising health workers selected and trained in the target barrios of Baliti and Turo in Arayat, Pampanga. A nurse in the Government rural health unit in Arenas provides curative health care to cases referred by the barrio health workers. A community organizer serves as the catalyst in the communities to encourage the support and active participation of the community leaders and members. Based on experience with previous programs which were dependent on the presence of a physician, the program hopes to demonstrate the capability of a nurse to fulfill the majority of the functions required of a rural health unit. Support for salaries, transportation and program costs for ICFH staff, and a small amount for clinic supplies is provided by World Neighbors.

POPULATION & FAMILY SERVICES: Supports the Neighbors Family Planning Services Center (NFPSC) in Zamboanga City, now an autonomous program with major emphasis on family planning motivation and services, nutrition education, food production and preservation, and leadership training. The program introduced family planning to the area, providing the first vasectomy service and the first use of an injectable contraceptive, Depo-Provera, and offers premarital counseling, pre-natal and post-natal care, pregnancy tests, and a number of contraceptive methods, including the pill, vasectomy, IUD, injectable and mini-lap tubectomy. A family planning hot line, manned by the Center, provides answers to family planning inquiries. It promotes local distribution of contraceptive supplies. World Neighbors provides staff salaries, transportation costs and partial program expenses. The Center charges for services provided to acceptors, and this income will eventually be the primary support of the program when World Neighbors support is reduced in three years. Assists an injectable contraceptive (Depo-Provera) program in Surigao City. Depo had previously been administered only to acceptors able to come to the City Health Office. The purpose of this program is to take family planning services to the "barangays" (villages). Although the program staff provides other methods of contraception on request, emphasis is on injectable contraceptives as a safe, effective, reversible and practical method. The experience of the Surigao City Health Office with injectable contraceptives will be used to motivate and train physicians, nurses, midwives and sanitary inspectors from the region. World

Neighbors supports three fulltime staff and their travel expenses. The Family Planning Organization of the Philippines (FPOP) provides the supply of Depo-Provera. Income from the acceptors will be used for acquiring additional supplies, materials and medicines.

PERSONNEL: 17 local, including 5 part-time.

PROGRAM INITIATION: 1953.

FINANCIAL DATA: Expenditures for FY ending 6/30/79: $29,296
Budget for FY ending 6/30/80: 34,177

COOPERATING ORGANIZATIONS: Children's Medical Center; Commission on Population; Family Planning Organization of the Philippines (FPOP); Government of the Philippines, city health offices; local "barangay" leaders and government officials; Institute of Community and Family Health; Institute of Public Health (Silliman University Medical Center); UNICEF.
