THE SCOPE OF THE TERMINAL REPORT

The Terminal Report, United States Economic Assistance to South Viet Nam, 1954 - 1975, consists of three volumes; the Summary which is contained in Volume I and II and the Bibliography of Official Documents in Volume III. The Summary provides the reader with a description of major economic assistance activities undertaken by the United States Agency for International Development and its predecessors during the extended period of U.S. involvement in South Viet Nam. It also serves as a factual account of the times as they pertained to U.S. programs and provides a setting for those who wish to read more fully by using the Bibliography. The Bibliography is an annotated listing of many of the major documents, files, reports, and other official records accumulated by the Agency over a period of more than 20 years.

This terminal Report was prepared in recognition of the magnitude and duration of the Agency's assistance to South Viet Nam. The report's purpose is to preserve primary source material of historical value.

Two other major activities were conducted as adjuncts to the Terminal Report:

1. Project Appraisal Reports of all ongoing A.I.D. projects at the time of the fall of the Government of Viet Nam have been prepared. These formal evaluation documents provide detailed information on the status of ongoing programs at the time of the fall.

2. A comprehensive description of economic policies and settings, the "Economic Context" has been prepared along with more detailed sector descriptions in certain areas, which provide supplemental information to the material in Volumes I and II of this Report.
Neither the Project Appraisal Reports nor the more detailed sector descriptions have been published, but copies are on file with the A.I.D. Reference Center, Agency for International Development, Washington, D.C. 20523. Both categories of unpublished documents are listed in the Bibliography under their respective subject headings.
INTRODUCTION

This annotated bibliography of official documents is designed for the serious researcher whose interests lie in all or part of the extensive U.S. economic aid programs extended to South Viet Nam from the nation's inception in 1954 until its collapse in April 1975. The documents included in this bibliography are, almost without exception, publications of the U.S. Government, publications of contractors employed by the U.S. Government, and publications in English of the Government of South Viet Nam. There is, of course, a great wealth of material published privately on South Viet Nam covering these years which is accessible through normal bookstore or library channels. The material with which this bibliography is concerned consists of those official publications which served as working documents for government programs: feasibility studies, funding documents, project proposals, correspondence, evaluations and other primary source materials which are not ordinarily placed in public libraries and are often difficult to locate.

An important consideration in the preparation of this bibliography is that, with few exceptions, each document referred to in it has been physically located and its location is specified in each case. It is in storage in one of two places; the A.I.D. Reference Center or the National Records Center. The reader will also find with each entry the necessary reference numbers which permit easy identification and retrieval of the documents.

The user of this Bibliography will find Volumes I and II of the Terminal Report useful in understanding and using these references. The two Volumes provide a narrative summary of economic assistance programs in South Viet Nam from 1954 through 1975. The Bibliography is divided into sections corresponding with the sections in the summary. At the time this Terminal Report was prepared A.I.D. also prepared a detailed description of Viet Nam in its economic context, which elaborates on the summary. In addition, various detailed sector descriptions addressing the major program areas of A.I.D. interest in South Viet Nam were written. All these documents are deposited in the A.I.D. Reference Center and are listed in this bibliography.
II

Despite the large number of entries here, the listings are hardly exhaustive. Rather, they are intended to be selective, so that the documents of most value can be preserved to provide a source of primary documentation. Some official documents listed here contain classified information which will require that the user have an appropriate security clearance. However, most documents are unclassified.

Access to documents in this bibliography may be gained by following the normal processes for obtaining information services as outlined in A.I.D. Handbook 18, Information Services. A.I.D. Outlined briefly below are the A.I.D. offices who can assist the user in locating documents:

An examination of special efforts which were initiated in 1966 to demonstrate GVN capability to develop stable institutions. Resultant gains in agriculture, health, education, local development are noted.

One of three parallel studies in the fields of economic anthropology and sociology, and public administration by the Michigan State University staff, this report attempts to add to the amount of existing knowledge regarding public administration by studying the activities of the village council and village officials. The annex provides a summary picture of administrative change in the Vietnamese village from the earliest period to the present time.

The study is directed toward two major objectives: The first is to provide a description of how the village provides for its major needs and to assess how well it does so; the second is to uncover and focus attention on the factors which can affect the rate of economic change and development.
